See Possibility Of Reduced Tax Lowering Rail Rates

LEGISLATIVE BODY HEARS ECONOMIST

Cut in Cost of Operation Would Be Considered in Fixing Charges, Is Claim

AGREE ON PRINCIPLE

10 Per Cent Slash in Corporation Levy Requested by Democrat Faction

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Possibility that a contemplated corporation tax reduction will permit reduction in rail rates was discussed by the house ways and means committee today when Dr. C. S. Duncan, economist for the Association of Railway Executives, appeared for a 10 per cent corporation tax.

Duncan declared he could not promise reduction of freight or passenger rates, but that reduction of the corporation tax from the present 13 1/2 per cent to 10 per cent would cut $28,500,000 from the railroads annual tax bill.

Would Alter New Rates
This reduction in cost of operation would be considered by the interstate commerce commission in fixing any new rates, he said.

Duncan declared railroads in 1924 paid $1.06 in taxes for every dollar declared in dividends, while other corporations paid only 54 cents in taxes for every dollar net profit.

Representatives of many important industries appealed to the committee in behalf of the Democratic proposal to reduce the corporation tax to 10 per cent.

Frank G. Wisner, of the National Lumber Manufacturers association; W. L. Crounse, Druggist and Leaf Tobacco association representative; and H. L. Granby, of the National Coal association, agreed with Duncan, in favor of the Democratic proposal.

Agreed On Principle
Republicans and Democrats were in agreement here today on the principle that the present corporation income tax should be reduced.

Both sides in the tax fight, the preliminary to which is the present group of house ways and means committee hearings, made known they favor a cut, but differences have developed as to its

GUN OWNER SOUGHT IN WOMAN'S DEATH

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 2.—Police today sought a "boy friend" whose strutting from her apartment piano here late yesterday was halted by the shot which killed Mrs. Mary Ellen Bodine, 18-year-old wife of a Wisconsin air mail pilot.

Three girl friends, witnesses to the tragedy, said the piano player, whose name they did not recall, had taken a gun from his pocket and placed it on the instrument as he struck up a tune. They said Mrs. Bodine fumbled it in her hands, inquiring, "You have to pull the trigger don't you, before they go off?"

The player warned, "For God's sake, lay that down or it will go off." A moment later the gun was discharged. None could tell who pulled the trigger. The piano player left.

Pole Sitter Is Catapulted From His Perch

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 2.—A "mystery man," competing for the flagpole sitting championship here, discovered last night that he had a bucking mount. He was hurled 65 feet by the restless rod.

The pole, newly installed on a real estate development, was held erect by guywires. In a storm last night, an archway was blown over on to one of the wires. The weight pulled over the flagpole on which the "mystery man" perched, much as a small boy pulls the hickory stick on which he has mounted a mudball. Then the guywire broke, the pole snapped back to its upright position and the mystery man was catapulted in a graceful arc far from the pole.

WINDY CITY'S MAYOR LEVELS HIS GUNS AGAIN

Library Trustees Told They Can Resign If They Do Not Like Drive

(By United Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Mayor William Hale Thompson today leveled his guns on the two most active factions now opposing him in his fight to "save America from King George."

One-half of his firing was directed at Supt. of Schools William McAndrew, who again went to trial on charges of "sponsoring pro-British teaching in the Chicago schools."

Trustees of the Chicago Library association bore the brunt of the remainder of the attack.

Against McAndrew, Thompson has marshalled a dozen or more witnesses whom he counts on to expose "pro-British passages" in histories now taught in local schools.

McAndrews position is at stake in the trial, Thompson having asked that he be dismissed on charges of insubordination as a result of his "favoring pro-British textbooks."

The mayor's firing at the library trustees came in the form of a flat opportunity to resign if "you don't like the campaign to purge the library of objectionable books."

This matter of pro-British

WATTERSON TRIAL MAY LAST MONTH

INDEPENDENCE, Calif., Nov. 2.—The trial of W. W. and Mark Q. Waterson, charged with mishandling almost a half million dollars of the funds of their now defunct Inyo county banks, may consume a month, it was indicated here today.

A mass of documentary evidence will be introduced by the prosecution in the form of notes, checks and records of the five banks and the second day of the trial dragged slowly and tediously on as Walter Wolfe, certified public accountant, took the stand.

Wolfe, whose testimony is expected to lay the foundation for the prosecution of the Waterson brothers on 36 counts of embezzlement, was called to identify checks, entries on the records and notes.

Coast Guardsman Is Implicated In Rum Hijack Case

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 2.—Larry Christiansen, Coast Guardsman, today became, with C. H. "Pop" Nesle, a leading figure in the rum hijacking case which resulted in Nesle's arrest by Bahama authorities several months ago.

NATION SLOWLY GAINING UPPER HAND OVER CRIME, U. S. COMMISSION TOLD

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The nation is slowly and methodically gaining the upper hand over crime, representatives from many states were told at the opening of the National Crime commission conference here today.

A paper written by Chairman Richard Washburn Child, of the National Crime commission, who is in Europe, was read to the delegates. It declared that in the last year 42 states enacted a total of 567 criminal code amendments, nine-tenths of which were "seriously and carefully considered" to check felonies.

Michigan, according to Child, enacted the "most effective legislation" in a bill to prevent promiscuous pistol-carrying. Other states, notably New Jersey, fell in line.

Provide Strong Penalties
The New York Baumes law, widely copied with modifications, did much, Child said, to check crime by providing stronger penalties for second and third offenses.

Other "helpful signs" were new laws dealing with arson and mob violence, while some states were improving prison labor and speeding the machinery of justice.

Sterilization of habitual criminals was proposed in many states and passed in three, the paper said. California recast its penal code and Louisiana has a commission doing the same to its old Napoleonic code written a century ago.

Missouri Given Black Mark
Missouri was given a black mark for failing to legislate on the basis of expert advice. One of the few crime bills that state passed made dog stealing grand larceny. New York was chided for failing to strengthen its laws against carrying concealed weapons and receiving stolen goods.

Seven states in the west made chicken stealing grand larceny and Idaho forbade purchase of fowls between sunset and sunrise without notifying the sheriff.

James E. Baum, deputy manager of the American Bankers' association, pleaded for modernized criminal laws and for greater efficiency.

Directors of the league met here in special session to elect Barnard.

William Harridge, for years secretary to Johnson, was elected secretary of the league.

Today's session of the league presidents was in marked contrast to most of their meetings in recent years, which have been characterized by bitter disputes between Johnson and other officials.

Today it was evident that utmost harmony existed. Proceedings were carried out with great formality.

Deprived Of Education, Cripple Commits Suicide

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Since birth, Thomas Allen Dwyer had been paralyzed and his only happiness came in study.

He was graduated from a ward school and later from a high school, where he displayed a particular aptitude for languages. It was with the greatest effort that he attended classes.

He was barely able to walk and then it was with a pathetic swing, for his arms hung uselessly at his side and his entire body swayed with each difficult step. He was unable to write.

That did not deter him from his ambition to become a language student and this fall he applied for entrance at Fordham college, The Rev. Charles J. Deane, dean of the school, attempted to dissuade Dwyer's family from sending the youth to school. However, he permitted young Dwyer to attend classes.

Yesterday Dean Deane wrote Dr. and Mrs. Martin J. Dwyer that it was useless to permit young Dwyer to continue in school. Father Deane said that it made other students at the college feel badly to see young Dwyer with difficulty making his way across the campus and that it was not fair to the student himself. Father Deane wrote the boy must be removed from the university.

Last night they found the body of the paralytic in his room at home. He was a suicide and an empty bottle, which had contained poison, lay beside the body. His last happiness in life—that of an education—had been deprived him.

WOMAN MET DEATH WITH MEN ABOARD JAP CANNIBAL CRAFT

Last Log Shows Boat Left Misaki December 3 on Fatal Cruise

SEATTLE, Nov. 2.—One woman, S. unmentioned in the ship's log and unnamed in the papers found aboard, went to her death with the 12 members of the crew of the Japanese fishing smack Ryoo Maru, the "cannibal ship" picked up Monday morning off Cape Flattery, after drifting across the Pacific ocean from the Japanese fishing banks.

This discovery was made today by quarantine officials at Port Townsend, where the craft has been in quarantine since it was towed into the sound.

A woman's purse, containing 10 Japanese coppers and torn bits of clothing, unmistakably belonging to a woman, leaves no doubt but that a woman was aboard, the officials said.

The woman's name was not mentioned in the crew's final message to the world, scrawled in ink on a piece of board found in the cabin. This last log read:

President Is Attacked For Veto Of Bill

Coolidge Characterized as 'Barren of Constructive Proposals'

(By United Press)
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—In a sweeping indictment of the foes of farm relief, 300 agricultural leaders from 20 midwest and southern states, adopted a resolution in conference here today demanding "re-enactment of legislation effectively incorporating the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill."

An appeal was issued "to the great agricultural sections of the nation" to throw their voting support to candidates favorable to such relief in the approaching presidential election, regardless of previous party alliance. No specific mention of any particular candidate was made, however.

Members of both the Democratic and Republican parties antagonistic to the McNary-Haugen bill were scored for their alleged failure to carry out platform promises, while President Coolidge, characterized as "barren of constructive proposals," was scored for "nullifying by a veto the act of congress for agriculture."

U. S. Chamber Hit
Organizations attacked for their alleged opposition included the United States Chamber of Commerce, cited as a "conspicuous example of past unfair policy," farm crop dealers and speculators, "particularly the grain and cotton exchanges," and "certain industrial groups in the east who want cheap

VAN SWERINGEN PROBE DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—A justice department investigation of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, Cleveland, O., railroad financiers, was recommended to the interstate commerce commission by Henry W. Anderson, counsel for minority stockholders opposing the application of the Van Sweringens to unify three of their railroads, the Chesapeake and the Pere Marquette and the Erie.

The commission took no action on the suggestion. In event it should subsequently conclude the Van Sweringen operations are subject to a federal investigation, its information would regularly be passed along to the justice department.

DRUGGIST SLAYERS SOUGHT BY POLICE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Three men, who struck down and killed A. R. Miles, drug proprietor, in a holdup which netted them less than $20, were being sought by police here today.

Mills died on the operating table of an emergency hospital from a wound in the head, inflicted, police believe, with the butt of a revolver, when he attempted to resist the bandits.

Description of the bandits was furnished police by Roberta Scriber, 18, who entered the drug store as the three men were leaving.

Colorado Troops Ready For Call Into Coal Fields

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 2.—The threat of the National Guard hung over southern Colorado coal fields today, as striking miners prepared to resume picketing in defiance of the orders of Gov. William H. Adams.

Adams ordered the return of three guard airplanes from Pueblo to Walsenburg, recommended the arrest of all picketers and announced that the guard would be called out, if necessary, to prevent picketing.

The governor's action came in answer to a vote at I. W. W. meetings in Walsenburg and Trinidad to resume active picketing.

"If the miners carry out their threats to picket and if county authorities are unable to handle the situation, it will be necessary for the state to mobilize the guard," he said.

Watchdog Taken By Bold Thieves

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 2.—M. J. Cover and his wife decided a watchdog would be the only thing to halt the systematic robbing of their home here.

So they borrowed a cocker spaniel watchdog from a neighbor.

Early today thieves entered the Covers' front door and took the dog away with them, Cover told police.

Letter From Detective Is Made Public

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—A copy of a letter allegedly from C. G. Ruddy, a Burns detective manager, to W. Sherman Burns, of New York, reporting the activities of his operatives in surveillance of the Fall-Sinclair jurors, was made public here today.

The letter, after declaring that four operatives were being taken off the job, said:

"The reason these men were returned was that the client decided only certain members needed watching."

Neil Burkinshaw, assistant U. S. attorney, who has charged that Harry F. Sinclair is the mysterious "client," made public that letter and others.

FALL DECLARES JUSTICE TOOK RIGHT COURSE

Former Secretary Asserts He Had Nothing to Do With Detectives

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Albert B. Fall declared in a statement today that he was "deeply disappointed" by the situation resulting in a mistrial in the oil conspiracy case against him and Harry F. Sinclair, but said Justice Siddons "took the obviously right course."

"The fair and impartial trial guaranteed to every citizen by the constitution of the United States has been made impossible by the publicity of the last 48 hours, irrespective of any other consideration," Fall said.

He declared that neither directly nor indirectly did anyone "on my behalf have the jury under surveillance."

"I was prepared completely to refute the charges against me and I entertained no doubt whatever that a verdict would be rendered because I am confident that my defense would convince every fair minded man of my integrity and the complete rectitude of my every action in connection with the Teapot Dome lease."

Fall said he is ready for retrial immediately and is sorry the government finds that impossible.

CUT PHONE WIRES; ROB BANK VAULT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—Telephone communications to Lone Jack, small suburb of this city, were cut during the night and the village bank robbed of an undetermined amount.

INQUISITORIAL BODY BEGINS QUESTIONING

Juror Kidwell, Alleged to Have Said He Expected Auto, First to Testify

STATEMENT IS DENIED

Talesmen Are Brought in By Justice Siddons to Hear Tampering Charges

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome conspiracy trial crashed today when Justice Frederick Siddons declared a mistrial.

Government attorneys thereupon began a move for a January retrial, while a grand jury summoned before it members of the jury to investigate sensational charges of jury tampering.

The first juror to appear before the grand jury was Edward J. Kidwell, leather worker, whose alleged remarks about expecting a "car as long as this block," in event of acquittal, had started the investigation into the alleged jury tampering.

On the heels of the Kidwell revelations had come a raid on Burns' detective headquarters here, which allegedly revealed a spy system against all but one juror. The two incidents caused the mistrial.

Kidwell Denies Statement
Kidwell, in the 40 minutes elapsed between dismissal of the Fall-Sinclair jury and his summons to the grand jury, denied he had made the statement attributed to him. He had been pictured as praising Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil defendant, for his "democratic" ways.

Immediately after court adjourned, Conrad J. Herzog, 56, juror and auto sales manager, said:

"Eleven of us on the jury feel we have been placed under a serious cloud in this matter and something ought to be done to vindicate us."

"We have no question about 10 out of 12," Roberts replied.

"We think you are an intelligent body and that you have seriously undertaken your responsibilities and this jury is going to be vindicated."

"But some disgraceful things have happened and we want your help in getting at the bottom of it. You are one of the most respected."

CAPPER ADVOCATES WATERWAYS IN U. S.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Nov. 2.—Development of waterways to the Gulf of Mexico and through the Great Lakes to the eastern seaboard as a means of putting millions of dollars extra profit in the pockets of farmers was advocated by Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, in an address to Tri-City Rotary club members here today.

Senator Capper said the Panama canal gave the east and west cheaper transportation, while the farming regions of the midwest had to bear the brunt of unequal transportation costs.

He urged business men to support the waterways development. Adequate waterways over existing channels east and south would go far toward placing agriculture on a parity with other industries, he said.

CITRUS SHIPMENTS BREAK ALL RECORDS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—The 1926-27 California citrus season, ending October 31, was the heaviest in numbers of carloads shipped in the history of the industry with a total of 70,600 cars, according to figures issued here today by the Fruit World, a leading publication of the industry.

The report shows that orange shipments totaled 57,163 cars, or 6197 more than the next heaviest shipping season, 1922-23, when 50,966 cars were shipped.

Total lemon shipments for the season were 13,437 cars, or 173 less than were shipped during 1925-26, when the high total was 13,610, the heaviest in history.

RAIL RATE CUT AS RESULT TAX SLASH IS SEEN

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has proposed that the present 12 per cent rate be cut to 10 per cent, but Representative Garner, ranking minority member of the committee, and other Democrats insist that reduction can be made to 10 per cent.

The Garner proposal would cost an estimated $300,000,000 or more, while Mellon holds $225,000,000 should be the limit of all tax cuts.

Public Would Benefit

Proponents of a reduction declare that general public will benefit by a reduction, as corporations will be able to reduce prices.

Garner has able backing from Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking minority member of the senate finance committee, who feels the tax reduction total could be $400,000,000, with cuts or eliminations in other rates than the corporation levy. Likewise many manufacturing and business organizations favor Garner's idea of deep cut than the Mellon proposal.

TWO DROWNED ALONG ORANGE COUNTY COAST

Two men lost their lives by drowning along the Orange county coast this morning, Walter Campbell, 40, of Costa Mesa, being drowned in Newport bay, while John M. Sousa, of Hynes, lost his life when he fell into the ocean at Laguna Beach.

The body of Campbell was discovered at 10:10 o'clock floating in the bay by J. D. Moore, of Newport Beach, who was bathing his boat when Campbell's body floated by. The body had been in the water for some time, an examination disclosed. The body was fully clothed. Details of the drowning are not known. Campbell's body was brought to Winbigler's parlors in Santa Ana.

Sousa was fishing off the rocks at Laguna Beach, when he slipped and fell into the water. Although friends with whom he was fishing endeavored to save Sousa they were unsuccessful. The body has not been recovered.

Friends of Sousa are maintaining a lookout for the body.

Members of the library board refused to comment on the statement, intimating that their attitude is that a change of city administration "does not necessarily mean a change of library books."

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, joked about the Chicago reaction to British propaganda at a dinner last night.

He said before he gave his support to the American Shakespeare foundation he had studied Shakespeare and found no trace of British propaganda in any of his plays.

A gift of $500,000 from John D. Rockefeller Jr., was announced at the dinner.

Will Investigate University Heads As Suicide Result

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 2.—An investigation of the actions of the so-called "higherups" of the University of Kansas has been demanded.

Charges by Dr. W. A. McKeever, to the effect that the suicide of Dean F. F. Walker, of the university school of engineering, was brought on by alleged mistreatment by "higherups," have aroused the ire of Representative O. Joliffe, oil man and farmer. He has demanded that Gov. Ben S. Paulin investigate the state of affairs at the state school.

Joliffe asserted in a letter to the governor that the charges were so serious that either they should be disproved, or, if true, a cleanup should be instituted.

SOCIETY GIRL'S TRIAL MARKED BY NEAR RIOT

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Marked by a near riot between W. T. Jeffries, capitalist and president of the Jonathan club, and newspaper photographers, Sally Ann Jeffries, society girl, appeared in traffic court here today to answer to charges that may result in a sentence of from five to 90 days in jail.

Miss Jeffries, daughter of the millionaire and manager of the exclusive "Sally Ann Shop," appeared before Municipal Judge Dudley Valentine to plead not guilty to charges of driving her automobile after her license had been revoked for speeding.

She appeared several hours before the time of the plea was originally scheduled to the surprise of newspaper photographers and after refusing to pose for a picture left the court room shielded from the cameras by her father and attorneys.

As the group hurried from the courthouse, Phil Snyder, a photographer, ran in front and attempted to "steal" a picture. The dignified president of the Jonathan club stepped forward and is asserted to have knocked Snyder's camera from his hands.

Snyder made a lunge at Jeffries and the two men battled on the sidewalk until separated by traffic officers and court bailiffs. Meanwhile, Miss Jeffries fled up the street. Jeffries demanded that Snyder be taken into custody while the newspaperman made similar demands. Both were released.

Miss Jeffries' automobile license was removed after three speeding charges had been brought against her and recently she was again ordered to appear in court on charges of driving her automobile without a license.

OIL CONSPIRACY CASE DECLARED TO BE MISTRIAL

responsible men on this jury and you can be of great assistance."

Jury Feels Badly

"The jury felt very badly about this," Herzog said, "and asked me to say something. Only last night a lady told me she had read that detectives were following us and it looked very bad."

"The government has not spent a plugged nickel to watch you people," Roberts said. "When you were told by the court not to read about this case or to discuss it we took you at par," Roberts said.

Justice Siddons addressed the jurors as soon as they were seated.

"I think it but fair to the other members of the panel for the court to say to Juror Kidwell that among the affidavits are certain statements. I call your attention to the existence of these affidavits."

"They are open to inspection to you or anyone else. I am not asking you. Mr. Kidwell, to make any statement at this time, but am calling your attention to the affidavits."

No Dissenting View

"Unanimous judgment was expressed by counsel on both sides regarding the action that should be taken in this case. There was no dissenting view expressed to the statements that a mistrial should be declared and the jury dismissed."

"Wide publicity has been given to the affidavits and the proceedings in chambers concerning them. This constitutes an additional reason for the action the court is about to take."

"The court agrees that the matter is one of grave concern to the administration of justice in this case. The precise mode of dismissing the case is not important."

"So I think I will withdraw the juror and dismiss the jury. Ladies and gentlemen, your service in this case has terminated and you are finally excused."

The trial ended dramatically in its 13th day as a result of four affidavits submitted by government counsel that one juror boasted he expected to profit from an acquittal and that 15 or 16 Burns detectives were dogging the footsteps of jurors, making contacts with their friends and acquaintances and investigating their financial standings.

Charge Sinclair Employer

One affidavit charged Sinclair was the real employer of the detectives.

At the opening of court Siddons ordered the jury brought in to hear for the first time the sensational charges of jury tampering which had been laid before Siddons yesterday morning.

Harry F. Sinclair came jauntily into court and was smiling. He was followed soon by his co-defendant, Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

Justice Siddons declared that the wide publicity given the affidavits on jury tampering furnished "additional reason" for his declaring a mistrial.

Juror Kidwell, whose talk of expectation of receiving a "car as long as this block in event of an acquittal" was one issue of the mistrial, did not leave the courtroom with the other jurors.

Juror Kidwell Pale

He was pale as he waited beside the government counsel, Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene.

Asked if he had anything to say, Kidwell replied:

"No, not at this time."

Asked by reporters if he had an conversation with Don King and J. R. Akers, who made affidavits about the block-long car, Kidwell only answered, "I have nothing to say."

foodstuffs regardless of what happens to the producers."

Leaders of the labor movement in America were criticized for their alleged disregard of the cityward trend of labor, characterized as desired by "certain large employers as it promises soon to provide two bled for every job, enabling employers to name their own wage scales."

Specific Recommendations

Two specific recommendations "for the organization of the seventeenth congress" so that "the way is not closed against enactment of effective legislation" were made. "We ask our representatives to insist upon the adoption of a house rule," the resolution read, "under which 175 members can, by petition, take any measure from any committee and place it upon calendar for a vote."

The resolution urged that the places of two members of the house committee on agriculture, who were not returned to congress be filled "by fair minded men from agricultural states."

The resolution reasserted the belief of the conference in the soundness of the McNary-Haugen bill, asserting it "embodies the only practical method yet proposed to extend equality to agriculture and to avert a disastrous price fluctuation through surplus control without government subsidy, government price fixing or government buying or selling."

Borah Hopes Friends Of Farmer Not Misled

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Commenting upon resolutions passed at the St. Louis agriculture conference today, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, said:

"If they will push their candidate far enough in the field so I can see the whites of his eyes, I'll have something to say. I hope no friend of the farmer will be misled by the resolutions."

EX-KAISER'S SISTER DELAYS WEDDING

The wedding was scheduled to be solemnized today.

WOMAN DIED ON JAP CANNIBAL VESSEL. BELIEF

Misaki on this our last trip for the fish. An engine crank broke and we could not find any steamer. We have decided to die now.

"Fifty" of rice remain and no water. It is March 6."

There followed the names of the 12 sailors.

This death pact apparently agreed to on the sixth of March was broken and the men turned cannibals in a vain effort to cheat death.

Human bones, enough of them to account for four men, were found strewn on the cabin floor.

Only two men were found aboard the boat when it was picked up by the steamship Margaret Dollar. The other 10 and woman are believed to have been sacrificed, one by one, when the food ran out.

The theory is advanced that at first the bones of the victims were thrown overboard. But along toward the last they were too weak to leave the cabin and left them strewn about the floor.

Signs of Severe Struggle

A severe struggle must have preceded the death of one victim, for a bloody knife and a fractured jaw bone were found.

When the crew had dwindled to but two, either these lost their nerve or were too weak to continue their cannibal tactics. It is believed they succumbed to weakness as a portion of their terrible food was found in the ship's galley by quarantine officers.

But whatever happened, the last two men died together, sitting side by side in the cabin.

It is evident the ship was disabled after it left its Japanese port last December, showing that the craft was tossed about for almost 11 months. Tools were scattered about the engine but it is evident that the men despaired of ever repairing the motor as parts were missing, evidently thrown overboard in a fit of despondency.

The log shows the food supply exhausted on March 6 and the two men found aboard the craft are believed to have been dead since September, indicating that human sacrifice kept them alive for seven terrible months.

Extend Vigilante System

Until each state has its own adequate police force, he said. The bankers planned to extend their system of "vigilantes" or town guards, which, first tried in Iowa in 1921, reduced bank robberies to almost nothing and cut burglar insurance accordingly.

Illinois, home of machine guns, adopted the "vigilante" plan belatedly, Baum said, with the result that so far this year the state has had only one bank robbery. In this case the bandit was caught within an hour and committed suicide to escape punishment.

A WORD OF COMFORT
How brief a time you spend with God! You cry out to Him in your distress, and go on your way before you can receive His reply. When the angel comes to you do not heed, and you think He has not heard.

Try to realize that God is with you all day long; learn to count upon His expecting you to be ready at any moment, to think and to do what will bring you comfort and satisfaction through the sense of fulfilling a service for Him and for His world, which is important in His sight. Count upon Him for guidance and for strength; be alert to receive it, and it will come.

EDITOR TALKS ON NEWS FOR ROTARY CLUB

That the subscribers of a newspaper have the right to expect a complete news service was emphasized in an address delivered to the Santa Ana Rotary club yesterday by J. Frank Burke, publisher of the Santa Ana Register.

"I consider myself a trustee for those who subscribe to The Register," said Burke. "It is my duty to see that the news of the day is supplied the customers of the paper. Therefore, so that all employees of the paper can know what should go into the paper and what should be left out, my paper is governed according to rules and regulations drawn up from the viewpoint of what the subscriber is entitled to."

The publisher stated that there are three classes of news dealt with by The Register. These are Santa Ana news, county news and world news. The Register is covering those fields thoroughly. In fact, a compilation made this week shows that The Register is spending $160 a day in order to get the news into the paper. A recent addition in the way of a trunk line gives the paper an expanded and fuller telegraph service. Statistics presented by the publisher showed that the number of local news items appearing in the paper is growing and has grown materially in the past 10 months.

At yesterday's Rotary meeting, R. C. Peterson, shoe dealer, was received into membership.

Another 'Right To Kill' Case Before Courts In Britain

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The second "right to kill" case within two weeks has come before an English court with the arraignment at Tonbridge of Mrs. Margaret B. Delvigne, 34, a war time nurse. She is charged with maliciously administering arsenic to her mother, Mrs. S. M. White, wife of one of the largest hop growers in Kent.

According to police, Mrs. Delvigne confessed she gave the arsenic "to save my mother weeks of agony she otherwise would have suffered before dying of malignant cancer of the liver."

"I am sure I have done the right thing," she said. The arsenic did not kill her mother, medical examiners reported.

Recently a jury acquitted a laborer who drowned his 4-year-old daughter to end her suffering from pneumonia and tuberculosis. The "right to kill" has been raised as a defense.

Business Students Dance at Country Club

The Halloween motif prevailed in the decorations for the dance held last night at the Santa Ana Country club under the auspices of the students of the Santa Ana Secretarial and Business Institute. The occasion furnished merriment for over 100 revelers, making the party one of the most successful ever held by the students of the business school.

Many of the dances came in costume, and a contest to select the best was won by Miss Ember Heyne and Frank Miles.

The evening's gaiety opened with a grand march led by O. S. Johnson, president of the institute, and Mrs. Johnson. During the evening, special cymbal and circular dances were arranged by the committee in charge. Games were played also and a program of music was given. In the contest for the prize at dancing, Miss Catherine Best and Keith Trickey, students of the Santa Ana Junior college, were adjudged the winners.

Arrangements for the occasion were in charge of a committee of four students of the business institute, Miss Nellie Mal Chapman, Miss Alice Koenig, Clark Barr and Miss Lillian Fitzpatrick. Punch was served by the committee.

Parent-Teachers

Lincoln

The first meeting of Lincoln P. T. A. of the year, attracted quite a crowd of members to the school, despite the threatening weather. The session was called to order by the new president, Mrs. J. C. James, and all joined in singing after which Miss Doris Schenck led in the flag salute.

Mrs. C. L. Tibbets, membership chairman, reported 172 members to date. A talk on "School Law" by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, was the outstanding number on the program and much information was gained by those present.

Readings were given by Miss Marjorie Lauderbach and Miss Betty Scheel. Mrs. F. W. Hein (Cleo Bowers) sang "Lassie O' Mine" and an encore, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Nellie Irvine Hughes. Both numbers were very much enjoyed. After a social time the members adjourned to meet again the third Thursday afternoon of this month.

McKinley

The first meeting of the year of McKinley P. T. A. was held recently in the kindergarten of the school. In spite of the inclement weather there was a good attendance.

The new chairmen were introduced and presented with a lovely bouquet. Mrs. Preble's resignation was read and accepted with regrets. Mrs. E. L. McKague, first vice-president taking the presidency for this year.

A very nice program was put on by the safety committee of the school, and Mrs. Eugene Reif sang two lovely songs. Refreshments consisting of home-made cakes, fruit jello and coffee were served by the kindergarten mothers.

Piano Recital

When Ione Tunison Peek presented two piano pupils, the Misses Bertha French and Imogene McAuley, in recital at the Foster-Barker Music room as an event of recent date, many guests were present and expressed their appreciation of the skill with which the young artists exemplified Mrs. Peek's teaching methods.

One of the city's accomplished music teachers in the audience, declared that Miss Imogene's playing was marked by a smoothness of tone and facile technique, and that Miss Bertha showed a splendid reserve force and a breadth of style highly suitable to the classic school. She felt that both young people showed the rare sense of musical balance transmitted to them by their teacher.

Miss Dorothy Maroon assisted on the program with two beautifully rendered songs, "Starry Night" by Denmore, and "The Sleigh" (a la Russe) by Kountz. Miss French was her accompanist. Miss McAuley's piano numbers were "Sonata" by Galuppi; "Etude, opus 10, number 2," Chopin; "Air de Ballet" by Widor, and "Po Ling and Ming Toy" by Friml. Miss French gave "Le Chante de Beffroi" by Marc Delmas; "En Bateau" by Debussy; and "Waltz" by Strauss. The two young musicians gave "Romance" and "Waltz" from the two-piano Suite by Arensky as the final number on the program.

Pink and White Party For Little Maid

Dorothy Elinor Ladd, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ladd of 1805 West Washington avenue, celebrated her fifth birthday delightfully yesterday afternoon, by entertaining a group of playmates at a party.

Mrs. Ladd, assisted by Mrs. Ben Hendricks of Tustin, and Mrs. C. C. Arrowsmith of Garden Grove, directed a succession of games for the children, and at the close of the afternoon, ushered them to the dining room where a table daintily arranged with pink and white appointments, was awaiting them. The snowy birthday cake bore five pink candles, and at each place was a pink basket filled with candies.

Dorothy Elinor pleased her playmates by appearing in red fairy costume, to greet them, a costume very becoming to her fair hair and blue eyes. Many pretty gifts were presented her by her playmates, who were Betty Jane Hendricks of Tustin, Norman Arrowsmith of Garden Grove, Betty Price, Frances Page and Mary Belle Ladd.

COMPLAINT IS MADE AGAINST BEACH MAYOR

Seal Beach politics was again in the limelight today with the issuing of a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon against R. E. Dolley, Seal Beach mayor, by the district attorney's office.

The complaint was issued after E. W. Reed, Seal Beach constable, charged that the mayor grew hostile yesterday when he served on him a writ of mandate from the superior court, which ordered a recall election to be held in the beach town.

According to the complaint itself, Mayor Dolley assaulted the constable with a hatchet. No harm was done because of the officer's ability at keeping out of range, he is said to have told local authorities.

The complaint, at present, is on file in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, where it awaits the arrival of the mayor.

The alleged trouble is said to have taken place at the home of Dolley where the officer went to serve the paper.

BUILDERS HEAR ADDRESS FROM FOREST EXPERT

A new ground cover which will grow faster than the forest trees now planted is what is needed for reforestation work in Southern California, according to Winfield Scott, reforestation expert who last night addressed the Orange County Builders' Exchange at a meeting at St. Ann's Inn.

More than 60 members of the exchange were present. Scott was the speaker of the evening. He dwelt extensively on reforestation in Southern California, telling how it should be done and why.

Discussion of the plastering code in Orange county was one of the main orders of business during the evening. A committee is to be appointed soon to investigate the code and it is probable that a revised code will be submitted to improve plastering work.

E. A. Clark, of the Gibbs Lumber company, Fullerton, was awarded the attendance prize which was donated by the Robertson Electric company of Santa Ana.

Wheeled Harem To Carry Wives Of Arabian King

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A harem on wheels, large enough to accommodate 24 wives, is being constructed here for the king of Arabia.

The ambulatory seraglio consists of two large and luxurious motor cars, each big enough for a dozen of the king's partners in matrimony. The automobiles were ordered so the king can take some of his spouses along on his frequent long trips through desert sections of his kingdom.

As other men are not allowed to gaze on the king's wives the cars have no windows, and light and air are admitted through the tops.

Among males, only two diseases, heart and tuberculosis, cause more deaths than do accidents.

Saturday night delegates will witness the presentation of "The Gaucho," at the Chinese theater.

Henry Helms, president of Kiwanis International and C. G. Parker, secretary, with their wives, will be present at the convention. It was announced today by Elmer Steffensen, who is in charge here of arrangements for the annual session.

Special entertainment features have been provided for women who accompany delegates, one of the features of which will be a tea on Friday served at the Women's club house, in honor of Mrs. Wendell C. Thomas, wife of the district president. A fashion review, with living models, will be on the program for the tea.

ARRANGEMENTS TO DISTRIBUTE ESTATE MADE

C. D. Brown, Public Administrator, is today completing final arrangements for the distribution to six residents of Asheville, North Carolina, and Butler, Pa., of the $175,000 estate of the late Tom Robinson, former Newport Beach bathing suit inspector. The heirs are scheduled to be in Santa Ana on Friday for a formal division of the estate.

To prevent possible dwindling of the moneys as a result of stock fluctuations, Brown today secured a court order from Superior Judge E. J. Marks, authorizing him to sell one first mortgage gold bond of the Huasteca Petroleum company and two shares of common stock in the Pan-American Petroleum and Transportation company. The bond has a par value of $1000 and the stock is appraised at $132.

The Robinson estate is the largest which the Public Administrator ever has handled, it is declared. It includes real estate in Newport Beach valued at $40,000, $110,000 in Richfield oil stock and the balance in Liberty and municipal bonds. Receipts during the administration brought the total to $196,000, of which $175,000 remains to be distributed, it is said.

The heirs include Mrs. Ella Carson, of Butler, Pa., Miss E. G. Bennison, Mrs. G. C. Meriwether, and Mrs. G. T. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barrier, of Asheville, North Carolina.

LOCAL STUDENTS DO NOT RECEIVE OFFERS

Circular letters offering reduced rates to students in various Southern California high schools who wished to join a high school fraternity have not been received by students of the Santa Ana Polytechnic high school, according to school officials. The letters, some of which were received by Huntington Beach high school students have been placed in the hands of U. S. district attorneys in Los Angeles for investigation.

A state law prohibits secret fraternal organizations in the high schools and the investigation of the letters may result in a charge of illegal use of the U. S. mails being placed against the persons responsible, it is alleged.

Students at Huntington Beach and at Santa Monica high schools, where the letters are known to have been received turned the misivises over to school officials.

Santa Ana officials today declared that as far as they knew none of the letters had been received in Santa Ana.

Santa Ana Travelers
See Sights of U. S.
And Old World

In South and East

Attorney and Mrs. H. C. Head of 214 South Birch street, have returned from an extended eastern trip of nearly two months' duration, on which they visited the principal cities of the south and east, and encountered several Orange county travelers.

While in Memphis, Tenn., they met J. Davidson Eudaley (remembered here by a host of warm friends, as "Jimmy") who at one time read law in the office with Mr. Head. On the homeward way and while in Victoria, B. C., they encountered Mrs. Stinson Jarvis of Balboa, who informed them she had changed her plan of proceeding directly to Honolulu, and instead would soon return to the Southland.

Mr. and Mrs. Head visited interesting cities in Tennessee and Virginia on their way to Washington, D. C. and also the principal cities of the east, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others before crossing the border into Canada. Unusually fine weather marked the entire trip, the only rains they encountered, being at West Point and at Niagara Falls.

Reaching Los Angeles the first of the week, the Santa Anas were met by their daughter, Mrs. Harold Knight (Mrs. Head). They plan to leave soon for their cabin at Forest Home, where they will enjoy the winter snows. Mrs. Head's brother-in-law, Arthur Edwards of Placerville, is now snowed in with a party of men, at his mountain home at Arrowhead.

European Wanderings

Returning Monday from a five months tour of her own country and of Europe, Miss Agnes Cummins is now at the home of her sister, Mrs. G. W. Brown of Lemon Heights, where she is recalling with much pleasure, the many interesting features of her extended trip.

Leaving Santa Ana in the early summer, Miss Cummins proceeded to New York City by way of the Grand Canyon, New Orleans, cities in Florida, Florence, S. C. and Washington, D. C. After a visit with friends in New York, she sailed on the White Star liner, "Maestri," landing at Cherbourg, France. From Paris, she went to Versailles, where she was fortunate enough to see the fountains play on a day when it happens but one Sunday a month and but a few months in a year.

Miss Cummins found southern France especially interesting, and visited the old Papal palace in Avignon before continuing on to Nice and by way of the Grand Canyon road to Mentone and Monte Carlo. In Genoa, Italy, she found much to interest the discoverer of North America, going on to Rome, Naples, Pompeii and by the Amalfi drive to Sorrento, Florence, Venice and Milan, and cities in Switzerland, Interlaken, Lucerne and the beautiful Lake Lucerne, were all visited and then the Cook's tour with which the Santa Ana traveler was identified, proceeded to Germany and Holland before crossing the Shakespeare country and other points of interest.

Dublin and the Killarney region in Ireland proved highly interesting, and Miss Cummins sailed from Queenstown on the SS Cedric.

Back in the United States, she went to Boston, West Point, and crossed to Canada to visit friends in Toronto and Chicago and Indiana before returning to California by way of Denver and Colorado Springs, and finally made her last visit of the long trip, with a chum of school-girl days in Los Gatos.

Famous Diva Arrives
At St. Ann's Inn
Today

Telephonic advice from Miss Ruth Cowan, Los Angeles impresaria under whose direction Madame Louise Homer is singing Friday night at Santa Ana high school auditorium, was to the effect that the world famous diva and her party would reach St. Ann's Inn this afternoon, to remain until after the recital.

Madame Homer will open the Ebbl concert course which has attracted so much attention from music lovers, not only of the city, but of the entire county. Choice of such a famous and such a well loved artist as the first attraction, was considered a particularly happy one on the part of the program committee of the Ebbl society. And it is of much interest to everyone in the city, that the artist has chosen to spend the two days intervening before her concert at the Inn. She will accept no invitations while here, as her sincerity as an artist, forbids Madame Homer to run the risk of injury to her voice, by anything so taxing as social engagements.

Last night, the great American contralto sang in the Long Beach Civic auditorium, attracting a crowd that taxed the capacity even of that huge building. She received a tremendous ovation, and those familiar with her voice, declared that she had never sung more beautifully. All of which is of added interest to Santa Ana music lovers as they anticipate an equally beautiful performance here.

Accompanying the diva, is her talented husband, Sidney Homer, the composer, and their daughter, Miss Katherine Homer, who plays her mother's accompaniments.

The party will remain at the Inn until after the Friday night concert. Tickets for the latter, are in gratifying demand at the Santa Ana bookstore, according to Miss Lula Minter, chairman of the Ebbl finance committee. Seat reservations for holders of season tickets, have been made with much enthusiasm, and today, such patrons as found it possible to hear only the opening concert, were showing a lively interest in securing seats for the event.

Merry Costume Party
Planned by J. U. G.'s
For Halloween

One of the happy events of the Halloween season was the costume party which members of the J.U.G. club shared with a group of young men, all of whom met at the home of one of their number at 1321 South Main street. Ghostly figures offered greetings to new arrivals, and the evening's program continued with appropriate games and delvings into the future. All decorations were characteristic of the season and at the late supper hour, the soft light of many candles illumined the scene. Deviled sandwiches, deviled eggs, cider, cake, fruit, candy and nuts, formed the appropriate menu served with Halloween appointments.

Supper was followed by dancing until a late hour, enjoyed by the J.U.G.'s, the Misses Catherine Rousseau, Prudence Drews, Dorothy Dungan, Ferdina Peters, Lucille Bernann, and their guests, Messrs. James Eudaley, Clarence Rousseau, Myron Dungan, Lawrence Burnett, Bryan Walker and Sterling Barnett.

Executive Board of County Clubwomen
In Fullerton

Finances formed the theme of the bi-monthly meeting of the Orange county Federation of Women's Clubs held yesterday at the Fullerton Ebbl clubhouse. The president of each of the 2 clubs in the county was asked to bring a report giving the membership of her club, the dues, the estimate of the club property, the total income for 1926-27, and the tax assessment for the coming year. The tabulated result was quite pretentious, showing 2339 members, $249,650 represented in club property in the county, $33,048 in income for last year, and $2714 in taxes which will be paid this year. These figures lack the reports of four of the clubs of the federation.

Plans were made for the southern district convention which will be held at Palm Springs, November 7 to 11, and an invitation was accepted from the Brea Woman's club to hold the January executive board meeting there on January 5, 1928.

The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock, by the president, Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton and Mrs. W. P. Alexander, president of the Fullerton Ebbl, greeted the visitors. Luncheon was served at noon by the hostess clubs to the some fifty or more women.

Hugh Miller of Fullerton, chairman of the county Armistice Day celebration, spoke briefly, and Miss Rhoda Foster, national secretary of the Young Women's Christian association who is in Fullerton in the interest of the Y. W. C. A. for northern Orange county, brought her message in a forceful way.

The principal address was by R. W. Borst, head of the English department of the Fullerton junior college, who used as his subject, "The Inter-collegiate Fellowship of Creative Art," and explained how the English department of his school is earnestly trying to get away from what he termed, "artificial rivalry" in colleges, and helping the students interested really to create literature, to "express themselves beautifully."

The expression so far has taken the form of verse mostly, a "Verse Book" having been published last spring and this year they are looking forward to the publishing of a larger and more pretentious one, whose contents will have been written by the students of the English department during their school year.

Mr. Borst closed by reading several of his own published poems, "Virgin Timber," "Chores" and "The Cry of the Loon."

Original Stories Are Presented Before
Quill Pen Club

With "Fear" as the theme of their evening meeting, Quill Pen club members last night sent cold chills shivering down the spines of a group of visitors, with the "short story series" given in response to roll call at the home of Mrs. Fred Conover in Tustin.

It was the first meeting conducted by the new president and secretary, Mrs. Harry M. Smith and Mrs. Herman Reuter, and one of the first features was the brief talk by Mrs. J. F. Adams, retiring president.

Three original stories formed the program: Mrs. Smith gave one of the further "Adventures of Professor Peabody"; Miss Pearl Camblin read a charming nature story, and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott offered the third tale. As each story was read, its writer was offered constructive criticism and helpful suggestions.

To complete the interesting evening, Mrs. Conover, aided by Miss Minnie Windler and Mrs. Elliott, served home-made pumpkin pie with whipped cream, cheese pumpkins, angelfood squares, coffee and Halloween candies.

Guests sharing the evening program with Quill Pen members included Mrs. G. H. Strachan, Mrs. Mason Tould, Mrs. A. A. Jones, Mrs. James A. Small, Mrs. S. C. Shields and Miss Minna Windler, while club members present in addition to the hostess, Mrs. Conover were Mrs. Harry M. Smith, Mrs. Herman Reuter, Mrs. J. F. Adams, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Mrs. J. V. Vlau, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Mrs. Lucy Agar, Miss Pearl Camblin.

Informal Dinner

Mrs. Marietta Phillo and her granddaughter, Miss Madalyn Phillo, of 1115 French street, presided at a charmingly appointed dinner as a feature of the Halloween season, with Miss Lena Thomas and her sister, Mrs. Hazel Thomas Northcross, as honored guests.

The dinner menu was enjoyed to the accompaniment of special Halloween features, and was followed by an evening of informal hospitality.

Frost Brings New Coat Styles

By CURTIS WOOD

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—With the first tang of frost in the air overcoats start blossoming in shop windows up and down Fifth avenue.

The latest models for the coming winter are, as a whole, much more subdued than the gay ones that featured the various football stadiums, the hockey rinks and the toboggan slides of 1926.

A few bright plaids are found here and there but generally a rich and conservative color scheme predominates. Grays, browns and tans lead and the swanky double-breasted model is found oftener on the younger types.

Cool—and Warm!

The tan polo coat that is surprisingly cool in the sudden warm spells of autumn and spring and surprisingly warm in the middle of a blizzardily winter is another popular number. It retails from $65 to $150. One leading haberdasher tells me that camel's hair is naturally a protection against both heat and cold and that those men who are buying it are principally chaps who were burdened down with heavy coats when the fad for 20 and 25-pound overcoats started flourishing several autumns ago.

No Sagging Knees!

A man with a closed car, it is quite evident, does not need as heavy an overcoat as a man with an open car or no car at all. Some overcoats are made of such weight and thickness that they are positively a burden and one's shoulders sag and knees buckle wearing them a short hour. This is needless inconvenience. A light wool coat is immeasurably warmer than a heavy woolen and cotton model.

Many young men, this writer has noticed, are wearing black woolen coats imported from France, Belgium and Scotland. This model at first seemed too conservative, too funeral. But the young bloods seem to prefer them and embellish the ensemble by wearing a vivid red or purple necktie, a derby set at a jaunty angle, a yellow or lemon colored pair of pinstriped gloves and a malacca stick.

These models sell from $75 to as high as $300 depending on the material and the locality from which it was imported. The best types of new imports come from Belgium and sell at $100.

Do not make the mistake that I witnessed at a Columbia football game one Saturday afternoon. A young man wore the outfit I've listed above but spoiled the entire effect by wearing bright tan shoes!

Neat Box Front

The box front in this Chesterfield model lends an air of neatness and class sophistication that is carried off well by the natty younger set. Heretofore, brokers and Wall street financiers who affected white piping on their vests were the only devotees of the

New winter overcoats, left to right: Double-breasted model with slight snugness about the hips; Chinchilla with box front and low pockets; and comfortable camel's hair with slash pockets and pleasing flare.

Chesterfield models. How times do change! Now the collegiates are giving it a heavy play.

There are a few little pointers about wearing an overcoat that it is well to mention at this point. Never neglect to carry gloves. Somehow there is a "skimping" appearance about a man in an overcoat going about barehanded. If it is warm or he has not the desire to wear the gloves he need not. Simply carry them and it will accomplish the same end.

Also the matter of a headpiece. Notice in the accompanying cut how well a light tan or gray felt looks on the double-breasted model and how the Chesterfield is set off by the derby. And how often indeed has the reverse of this been seen and to what fatal effect.

A THOUGHT

His hand shall be against every man, and every man's hand against him.—Genesis xiv:12.

There is no better sign of a brave mind than a hard hand.—Shakespeare.

ASTRINGENTS

The heat of summer days, like the heat of very hot water, relaxes the skin so that the pores are apt to be too large and prominent. There are very few complexioners which do not need an astringent at this time of the year.

You can buy all sorts of fancy astringents in bottles, but I earnestly advise you to save your money and make what you need yourself. One of the best astringents in the world runs out of your bathroom pipes—cold water. Wash your face and neck first with warm water and a mild fatty soap, using a little borax or bicarbonate of soda in the water to make it soft. Hard water contains calcium or magnesium carbonate, and though too much soda or borax in the water is bad for the skin, the hard water is even worse. Use the littlest bit—better still, use oatmeal powder or oatmeal bags, or a hard water soap, which contains things to make the water nice.

If possible boil your water, and if you are building a house in a hard water district, put in the not very expensive machine that softens all water, as it enters from the main.

All right, cold water is one of the best astringents, if it isn't hard water. Next comes vinegar diluted half with water and then flavored with anything you want. Cologne water will do. Use it on the skin.

Ice is marvelous. Anything with alcohol is astringent, so colognes, toilet waters, etc., are good for the skin, used after cold cream, when the skin is oily. And another good astringent, is to put lumps of starch in the cool rinse water, rinse the face with this, and let the starch dry on if you like. It helps the powder, it bleaches the skin, it makes the complexion milky, it closes the pores, and is excellent as a skin tonic.

Alice F.—I do not think that a tablespoonful of peroxide in the last rinse of the shampoo will hurt your hair, unless it is inclined to be brittle already, and as soon as the hair shows this tendency you should stop using it.

Edna F.—At 25 years of age, height five feet, four inches, your weight from 114 to 118 pounds is correct, and the measurements you gave of your figure show that your proportions could not be improved upon.

water until tender, breaking the paste in two-inch lengths before cooking. Drain and arrange over the bottom of a hot deep platter or shallow serving dish. Pour over the mushroom sauce and place the prepared fish on top. Serve garnished with cream.

To make the sauce, melt butter and add mushroom peeled and broken in small pieces. Cover and saute five minutes. Sift over flour and stir with a fork until flour is absorbed and blended. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thick and smooth. Season with 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

To prepare fish, sprinkle filets with salt and pepper and saute in a hot frying pan until a delicate brown on both sides. Moisten cheese with cream and spread the top of each filet with the mixture. Slip the fish under a gas broiler flame and brown. Remove carefully to prepared platter and serve.

Women Found Adventure Lovers

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

One time a man, long since dead, grew eloquent in my hearing about women having the right to vote, or rather not having it, for he was a rabid anti-feminist. He was really terrible about it. He would shout until the hills echoed about woman's place being in the home. And when his wife took her courage in her hands one day and declared stoutly that she hoped she had some ambition higher than her kitchen—well, the remainder of the story is better left untold.

It was long ago and such Anthonion oratory is no longer the fashion. The question of suffrage is settled.

But the kitchen! That everlasting kitchen has bobbed up again. Ruth Elder, a married woman, preferred publicity under her married name because she was afraid she would be criticised for leaving her home to fly across the ocean.

"There is so much talk about women not sticking to their homes," she explained, "it might be better for the public to regard me as single."

The wild oat is not entirely masculine. Not that flying over the ocean in October is an out of any kind.

But it was adventure—and surely a woman has a right to an adventure. People do criticise women fliers and women swimmers and women adventurers of any kind if they happen to be married. One married woman did an almost superhuman thing and then had to apologize to the world for it, declaring it was done to educate her children.

There is no reason why woman should become so entirely saturated with the idea that she was born only to be useful, that the word "adventure" must be torn from her dictionary.

At any rate, she has proven her courage and could turn Amazon, too, if she had to. And not with a rolling pin, either.

LIFE'S NICETIES Hints On Etiquette

1. If invited, informally, to a dinner, and you are uncertain whether to "dress" or not, what can you do?

2. What, ordinarily, should a woman wear to a dinner?

3. When in doubt, is it better to wear a décolleté evening dress or a long sleeved frock?

THE ANSWERS

1. Call your hostess and ask her frankly.

2. An evening gown, if one does not possess a dinner gown.

3. The latter.

INGROWN NAIL Turns Right Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

SMART COSTUMES FOR WOMEN WHO ENTER BUSINESS WORLD

By HENRI BENDEL

NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Being just a "society woman" seems to be losing its tang for the youth of the restless sex. The urge to activity in the business and professional world is making many socially elite young women eschew the sheltered life of old New Yorkers and start out, as they call it, "on their own."

But one thing is noticeable about those who do start out. They know the full value of being well-groomed. They realize that an ounce of charm adds pounds in worth of efficiency. So their wardrobes, instead of losing by their new ventures, gain importance.

I find that the society-business or professional woman is more particular about her clothes than her sisters. She has definite ideas about what to wear and not to wear. Clothes must be business-like. But they must have that elusive feminine quality that enhances their wearers' womanliness. Society women never make the mistake of early suffragists in striking too masculine or severe a note in their attire.

The costumes I show today illustrate this. The tailored Pateu frock of mist gray homespun, with an almost invisible plaid in darker tone, incorporates into its cut many of the softest of the winter's new lines. It has the popular surplus front and a novel front belt which points upward to close with three bone buttons. The two box pleats originate in the shoulder seam and are stitched to the waistline to form a tailored front and flare below to give fullness.

The sleeves shape gracefully into a cuff that points upward as the belt does. The finishing touch that marks this frock as decidedly feminine, simultaneously, is the chic little vestee of flesh georgette which has a cute little bowknot to fasten its V-neck.

One frock I have just designed for an interior decorator of genuine prestige is the black broadcloth shown today. Broadcloth can never be as serviceable as homespun or other harder materials. But its lustrous beauty and soft grace endear it to the heart of women who love the feel of good materials.

When primarily a coat dress, this black broadcloth achieves a dressiness by its double circular jabot which gives it a diagonal closing, its rounded skirt width which corresponds to the jabot, a smart black yoke that rounds also and cuffs of real distinction, with rounded edges held together by jet cuff links.

There is a suggestion of a back collar to this frock and the front is faced with beige moire ribbon. With it is worn a simple black chiffon felt turban that makes a jaunty bow of its brim on one side.

To many women whose occupation takes them on the street the coats are more important than dresses. Many coats this fall are luxuriously furred and lined with gorgeous materials that add no small amount of chic to the whole. I show today what I consider perhaps the smartest business coat I have designed this fall. It is fashioned from green velour, lined throughout with a gorgeous plaid homespun in the choicest of tans and greens. So effective is this lining that it emerges to form the cuffs and faced back, deep lapels.

Hugs the Throat

While this coat has a diagonal closing, it can be fastened tight about the throat in cold weather and be quite a different coat. The collar and cuffs of this model are most distinctive. Unplucked beaver form them. The flared collar stands high in the back in proud manner and the flared cuffs rise above the elbow.

The hat designed for this coat is of green velour, close fitting, with a double brim. The top layer turns up abruptly in front and obviates the necessity of using any hat band.

Fashion Hints

ORIENTAL LINES

A stunning dark blue georgette with uneven hemline has tightly swathed hips in gold cloth and a gold bolero for a bodice.

NEW JEWELRY

Jeweled heels are the latest in modern jewelry. Precious stones are set in a traced frame work of platinum on the heels of silver or gold brocade slippers.

NEW PURSE

Black velvet, with three half-inch tucks widely spaced, fashions a new bag with rounded corners and a gold metal frame.

JEWELLED SPANS

Newest in evening foot decoration are the jeweled "spans" which take the place of straps on colorful slippers.

FUR HIP-LINE

A dull-surged blue velour street dress had a curly black baby lamb collar, cuffs and for novelty, a lamb border on the waist that forms a swathed hip-line.

PUFF CUFFS

A simple black velour coat has a shawl collar of black pony and to be "different," has puff cuffs of the fur.

CORDEURO COAT

Rosy beige cordeuro assumes new importance by fashioning a semi-formal coat of straight lines, triangular self incrustations and rich natural lynx fur trimming.

NEW HANDKERCHIEFS

Geometric patterns, fine and wide stripes, triangles, circles and so on, in vivid colors, enliven the new handkerchiefs.

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The barrel rolled upon the sea. Tinties grin. It left the barrel high on shore, and standing right up straight. "Let's break it open," Carry cried. "I'd like to see what is inside. We'll knock the top in with a stick. Why, I can hardly wait."

The whole bunch shouted, loud, "Hurray!" They found a stick and banged away. It wasn't such an easy job, the Tinties soon found out. But they took turns, and after while, the top gave "way." This made them smile. Said Carry, "Now we soon will see what this is all about."

But, at this moment, came a scare, as something slowly "rose" in air. 'Twas like a funny trail of smoke, and then a form it made. The Tinties gazed on with awe, and then a friendly face they saw. He smiled at all the Tinties, then he said, "Don't be afraid."

OLD FASHIONED COIFFURES ARE AGAIN STYLISH

CHICAGO, Nov. 2—Beauty parlors are stocking up on hairpins and "transformations" to cover bobbed heads, for women now believe shingled hair is neither beautiful nor feminine, a spokesman for the national beauty and barber's supply convention, in session here, told the United Press.

"The bob has reached the end of its career and women are letting their hair grow," John F. McGann, New York City, said. "Women now admit that the monkey cuts, boyish bobs and shingles are not soft or feminine and that their faces need a frame of pretty hair."

Hairpins and "transformation wigs" are being used by many women, McGann said.

"They used to contend that the bob was hygienic, but nowadays tight-fitting felt hats have injured women's scalps to such an extent that they can no longer call the bobbed head healthy," he said. "In time, bobbed haired women would be bald, if they continue to wear such hats."

"The younger American women—college girls and debutantes—are leading the movement back to the old-fashioned coiffure. They have been purchasing extra hair pieces to cover their bobs while their hair grows."

A one-act play, "The Pot Boiler," by members of the high school class, will be a feature of the program Thursday night, at the Y. M. C. A., when the Young Men's Division club holds its regular meeting.

The club, which is made up of young men from 18 to 25 years of age, meets for dinner at 6 o'clock, with a program of instruction and entertainment following.

The playlet, which is directed by Ernest Crozier Phillips, is expected to bring out the full membership of young men.

Brotherhood Of Church To Meet

The Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church, at its meeting next Tuesday evening at the church, will give its attention to college athletics in general, and to the local junior college in particular. It was announced today, in connection with a statement that the junior college football squad, headed by Coach Bill Cook, would be special guests at the meeting.

A "training table" dinner will be served and a regular football program will be presented. Professor Joseph A. Pipel, of Occidental college, formerly football coach and now track coach at Occidental, will be the principal speaker.

FRED MERKER

FRED MERKER PROMOTED BY GAS COMPANY

Fred Merker, commercial agent for the Southern Counties Gas company, today was receiving congratulations of his friends, following announcement today that his ability had been recognized by the employing corporation in his promotion to district manager for the company at Ventura.

Merker will leave here Saturday for Ventura and the following day will assume the responsibilities of his new position—that of manager of the company's interests in Ventura county. It is the intention of Merker to establish his home in Ventura as soon as he can procure a residence. Merker will be succeeded here by Lorin Moore, who has been a salesman here for the past five years.

Merker started his employment with the company here on September 18, 1920, as chief clerk, and later went into the merchandising department as a salesman. On June 19, 1926, he was made commercial agent by Charles Rutledge, soon after the latter had assumed the position of district manager here. He had charge of the sales force and devoted himself to development of new business for the company.

His rise in the ranks of the employing company has been continuous since he entered its employ seven years ago.

"This district is losing a mighty capable man and the city a good citizen," was the comment today of Rutledge.

At Ventura, Merker will succeed Carl Summers, who has been transferred to the production and transmission department of the company. He will maintain headquarters at Ventura.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY

WHEREAS, in the death of CLYDE BISHOP, the Bar of Orange County has lost one of its oldest and most respected members, the community, an honest and public spirited citizen, and the country a patriotic and loyal American; and

WHEREAS, Clyde Bishop has for many years been closely associated with the administration of the City of Santa Ana, and has at all times held the high respect and esteem of the City Council and other officers of said City;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Santa Ana in regular meeting assembled that we publicly express our high esteem and appreciation of the remarkable character, outstanding ability and integrity of our fellow citizen, Clyde Bishop, and assure to his widow and relatives our great sympathy with them in their irreparable loss.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution be spread upon the minutes of the City Council and a copy be furnished to the daily press.

The foregoing Resolution was regularly introduced, passed and adopted by the unanimous vote of all members at an adjourned regular meeting of the City Council held on the 31st day of October, 1927.

City Clerk of the City of Santa Ana.

ASKS COURT TO RULE MARRIAGE NULL AND VOID

Mrs. Bernice B. Davis apparently does not believe in the conventional route for securing legal separation from a husband. Neither annulment or divorce is requested in a case before Superior Judge James L. Allen today, for Mrs. Davis is asking that her marriage in 1920 to Seth A. Davis, of Lemon Heights, be declared void on the ground that she had a former husband living at the time of her second marriage.

The first husband is named as A. R. Dunham. Mrs. Davis has not stated in her complaint what means were taken to gain separation from Dunham, but it has been suggested that the second marriage was never legal and is void regardless of the court action requested.

The plaintiff asks that a house and lot at 1011 South Bristol street, Santa Ana, two automobiles and household goods be divided between her and her second husband.

Testimony was introduced this morning tending to show that a final decree of divorce had been granted Mrs. Davis from her first husband in 1921.

'LOVE' LAWS TO BE ENFORCED BY MUSSOLINI

ROME, Nov. 2.—Benito Mussolini is going to apply American prohibition enforcement methods to Italian illicit love.

Philandering husbands, faithless wives, cherishes of "grand passions" and even organizers of petting parties are to be dealt with under the new "Code Mussolini."

Now, for instance, the penal code, as regards unfaithfulness, is complicated.

First it is necessary for a wife or husband to denounce a faithless partner and demand police action. Then the police officer sent to arrest the guilty parties must, before he starts anything, wrap an Italian flag around his waist, knock on the door of the room in which the complainant has indicated there is reason for police action and demand, in the name of the law, that the door be opened. He must be accompanied by two ordinary policemen.

Thirdly, he must catch the guilty parties in "flagrante delicto."

All this is going to be changed. Under the new law, the police may act themselves and act as they choose. At any time they may challenge people they suspect of unfaithfulness and a man with the careworn, married look, in company with a beautiful girl, will be under constant suspicion.

Also, if he is caught, he may be sentenced to three years' imprisonment instead of the three months to one year now inflicted on those, if any, who are caught.

JOSEPH SCOTT TO BE SPEAKER AT ARMISTICE DAY

The Fullerton union high school lawn, scene of many stirring addresses, will be crowded again on the afternoon of November 11, when Joseph Scott, of Los Angeles, will give the Armistice day oration.

Because of his command of language, magnetic personality and inspiring delivery, Scott has been given the honor of nominating two presidents of the United States, and was selected from among thousands recently to introduce Col. Charles Lindbergh on his triumphant tour of the country. While not forgetful of the fact that Armistice day is a day of commemoration and a patriotic holiday, the committee in charge of the celebration is anxious to put a "kick" in the day's program. For that reason, no ordinary "oration" would satisfy them, but now that they have secured the services of Joseph Scott, they are receiving congratulations from many different angles. His world-wide fame, and his reputation as one of the nation's most eloquent citizens will bring many hundreds of his admirers to Fullerton on Armistice day.

It is recalled that five years ago, when Orange county first celebrated Armistice day in Fullerton, William Gibbs McAdoo spoke on the high school lawn, extracts from his speech appearing afterwards in all the newspapers of the country.

ALLEGED CHECK ARTIST CAUGHT IN GATE CITY

Ernest Pohl, alias Ernest Mat-schman, 26, wanted in Santa Ana on charges of "floating" several alleged worthless checks, has been arrested in San Bernardino, on similar charges and will be tried there, the sheriff's office was told today. In case he is not convicted in that city, then local officers have asked that he be returned here for trial.

Pohl is asserted to have passed three checks in Santa Ana on September 10. One of the checks, for $30, was passed at the McFadden-Dale Hardware company, one for $81 was accepted by the J. C. Penney company, and the third, for $22.50 was passed at the Dowling Service station.

At the time the checks were said to have been cashed here, the man was residing at 1028 Orange avenue, it was said.

COUNTY BOARD
IN TRIBUTE TO CLYDE BISHOP

The Orange county board of supervisors yesterday passed the following resolution on the death of Clyde Bishop:

"Be it hereby resolved that, whereas it has come to the attention of the Board of Supervisors of Orange county that the Supreme Being has called Clyde Bishop to his everlasting home and whereas for many years he has been of inestimable assistance to the county, freely giving of his time, energy and intellect for the welfare of his fellow citizens and never has refused to sacrifice himself for his friends or his county, which he dearly loved, and,

"Whereas now he has been called to higher work and he shall never again appear with us to counsel us,

"Now therefore be it hereby resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Orange county, duly assembled in regular session that we sorrow with the members of his family at their great loss and assure them that all Orange county appreciates the loss of such a magnificent character from the community, that his place cannot be filled and that his achievements in the field of his chosen profession shall stand during the years to come as a monument to his energy, kindness, love of friend and unselfish devotion to the community in which he lived and worked;

"And be it hereby ordered that this Resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Board of Supervisors."

YOUNG EARL'S
SECOND LOVE
AFFAIR BROKEN

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Nov. 2.—The second lightning romance of the blue blooded young Earl of Kinnoull broke up when his multimillionaire countess was granted a divorce on the ground of his infidelity.

Lord Kinnoull and his wife met at a summer resort in 1925, when he was 21 years old. Their engagement was announced a month later. They were married soon and went on an airplane honeymoon.

Speedy Romance

Their whole romance was carried on at airplane speed and not many months had elapsed before it came to a swift conclusion when the countess and her $6,000,000 left the earl flat with creditors storming the doors of his London mansion.

When the earl met his wife—then Miss Enid Hamilton-Fellows, granddaughter of the tobacco magnate, Sir Frederick Wills—his resilient heart had just recovered from a disappointment in love.

A year previous a young South African woman had applied for a marriage license in which she and a "George Hay" were named. Some unromantic official investigated and found that "George Hay" was George Harley Hay 13th Earl of Kinnoull, Viscount Dupplin and Lord Hay and Baron Hay.

Kidnaped By Mother

His mother, the dowager countess, was no sooner informed than she kidnaped him and sent him off to South Africa in care of a stern, unromantic male relative. The earl was heartbroken, it seemed, and the young woman in the case—a Mrs. Trewarth herself—she said she was going to South Africa after him. But when the dowager countess threatened to keep the earl on the move from then on until Mrs. Searle dropped off the trail, Mrs. Searle decided not to bother.

Lord Kinnoull was taken to the wide open spaces of South Africa to be hardened. He had been back a week when he proposed to Miss Enid Hamilton-Fellows. This time the dowager countess smiled her approval.

CITY STARTS CONDEMNATION
SUIT TO GET LANDS NEEDED TO OPEN SYCAMORE STREET

The city of Santa Ana today seemed to be off to a good start in proceedings for the opening of Sycamore street between Washington avenue and Seventeenth street, following repeated failure over a period of 25 years to get the thoroughfare extended north from Washington avenue.

C. D. Swanner, city attorney, today had on record in the clerk's office a suit for condemnation of lands needed to create an avenue 60 feet wide through the five blocks—five city blocks in length but crossing only one street, Fifteenth.

Owners of the properties involved and persons having mortgages on some of the holdings and other organizations having connection with the property or persons at interest are named as defendants, the list being very imposing.

The suit is based on a resolution of the city council by which that body determined "that the public interest and convenience require the acquisition and opening" of the street.

Here are the defendants, as enumerated in the complaint: Louis Ewing and Frankie E. Ewing, his wife; W. S. Barnes; Farmers and Merchants' Savings Bank of Santa Ana; Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company; C. V. Davis and Bertha R. Davis, his wife; Orange County Title company; Home Mutual Building and Loan Association of Santa Ana; J. L. Clark and Mollie E. Clark, his wife; O. H. Barr and Lou D. Porter; Mary Porter; Elliott and Horne Co.; and several John Doe and Mary Jane persons and corporations.

His mother, the dowager countess, was no sooner informed than she kidnaped him and sent him off to South Africa in care of a stern, unromantic male relative. The earl was heartbroken, it seemed, and the young woman in the case—a Mrs. Trewarth herself—she said she was going to South Africa after him. But when the dowager countess threatened to keep the earl on the move from then on until Mrs. Searle dropped off the trail, Mrs. Searle decided not to bother.

Lord Kinnoull was taken to the wide open spaces of South Africa to be hardened. He had been back a week when he proposed to Miss Enid Hamilton-Fellows. This time the dowager countess smiled her approval.

CHILD RELIEF SOCIETY WILL MEET FRIDAY

Harry D. Riley, president of the Crippled Children's Relief association of Orange county, today made an urgent appeal to men and women of Orange county supporting the organization to attend the annual meeting of the association to be held Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the chamber of commerce rooms of the city hall, Anaheim.

The president emphasized the point that persons who have contributed direct to the organization and those who subscribed $10 or more to the Santa Ana community chest are eligible to vote at the annual meeting.

Officers of the organization are proud of accomplishments of the past year and with the progress made in the rendering of assistance to crippled children whose parents are not in financial position to offer them treatment for the correction of deformities.

The scope of the work is increasing and more cases are being accepted as funds for operation of the association increase. Riley said, indicating the ambition of the association officers to offer a real service to the crippled children of the county.

Discussion of plans for the coming year will be one of the features of meeting Friday night. In addition to the election of officers to carry on the work for the ensuing year.

DISABLED VETS
ASK AID FROM
COUNTY BOARD

That the board of supervisors is in favor of the work being done by the Disabled Veterans association in Orange county and that it probably will appropriate a sum of $1000 for furthering the work of the organization was indicated at yesterday's session. District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., is today charged with the preparation of a resolution whereby the money can be turned over to the veterans' order.

Jack Fisher, vice-commander of the organization, outlined to the board the nature of the welfare work being done and pointed out that only through such an institution can needy cases receive prompt attention and relief. He further emphasized the fact that the local officers of the veterans' order find it necessary to discover cases where assistance is needed because few veterans voluntarily apply for aid.

Fisher stated that the available funds are used partly for giving emergency aid in the form of loans and part is used for maintaining the organization which brings veterans' problems to the attention of the national institution. Many men who are eligible for compensation under recent legislation are being overlooked and it is the function of the local unit to handle these cases.

The resolution probably will be before the board at its next meeting.

RED CROSS AIDS MILLION IN ONE YEAR

Above—Millions of garments were distributed by the Red Cross to flood sufferers in the Mississippi valley. Center—One of the 149 refugee camps in the Mississippi valley, where several hundred thousand flood sufferers were given food, shelter and clothing. Below—An airplane view of McGehee, Arkansas, after the flood waters had swept over the town.

NEARLY a million persons, victims of 77 disasters have received assistance from the American Red Cross during the past year.

On an average of every five days this country suffered a disaster of sufficient magnitude to bring the Red Cross into action. The amount of money the organization spent in meeting these emergencies is greater than the budgets of twenty-six states, while only six cities in the country have a population larger than the number of disaster sufferers assisted.

Floods raging over thousands of miles, fires destroying whole villages, tornadoes and hurricanes sweeping over entire states, and death dealing explosions combined to make the year one of unprecedented calamities.

The outstanding disaster of the year was the Mississippi Valley flood, where the organization assisted more than 607,000 persons during the emergency period, and is still carrying on extensive reconstruction work. Already rehabilitation aid has been given to nearly 600,000 persons. After rescuing those in danger from levees and house tops, the refugee population was fed, clothed and sheltered in 149 refugee camps. As these people returned to their homes they were supplied with live stock, seed and farm implements, while buildings damaged or destroyed by the flood were replaced. In this disaster the Red Cross is expending a relief fund in excess of $17,000,000.

Red Cross leaders state that increasing possibilities in the field of disaster relief has necessitated a larger membership. The organization, headed by President Coolidge, has set 5,000,000 members as its goal for this year's Roll Call, which will be held throughout the nation between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving.

HIGH SCHOOLS OF ORANGE AND
S. A. TO DEBATE

Members of the debating classes of the Santa Ana and Orange high schools to be chosen later this week, will follow in the footsteps of Demosthenes next Wednesday evening when they attempt to convince their audience that it is wrong.

At that time the question will be "Resolved: That the plan of installment buying, as developed during the past 10 years, is detrimental, socially and economically."

The audience, which will gather in the music room of the local high school, will be asked to vote upon the question. No matter what side the audience takes, said C. C. Stewart, debating coach, the debaters will take the other side in an attempt to change the minds of the audience.

Following the addresses to be given by the students the audience will be allowed to vote again on the question. Its decision will be final, stated Stewart.

Stewart pointed out that the question for debate is a live one. "Ford and Hoover have both been quoted at length in regard to their sentiments on the subject," Stewart continued, "and two of the country's leading financial writers, Roger W. Babson and B. C. Forbes, also have discussed phases of the installment buying situation at length in their financial articles."

Stewart expects the public to take a greater interest in debates under this plan which leaves the judging of the debate entirely under the audience's jurisdiction.

JEALOUS MATE
NAILED DOORS AND WINDOWS

Mrs. Frances Weinrich declared that her husband, Herbert Weinrich, was jealous, in a complaint for divorce which resulted today in the awarding of a final decree. He was so jealous that he nailed up the doors and windows of their home to keep her from seeing other men, she said. Whenever an automobile passed the house, his jealousy increased and he shot a revolver out the window to scare possible visitors away, and that, said his wife, is one of the main reasons why she left him. Their married life had lasted for seven months when she went to live with her parents. The fits of jealousy are said to have begun the day after they reached Chicago in 1920 on their honeymoon. Mrs. Weinrich spent an hour in shopping and on returning to their hotel was greeted with the charge that she had been out with another man. The couple moved to another hotel to throw her alleged friends off the trail.

All her persuasive power was not sufficient to convince Weinrich that she was loyal to him and did not care for other male friends, the wife declared.

EAT THE THEATER

BILLY EVANS

Says

George Bancroft in a scene from the comedy, "Tell It to Sweeney," now showing at the West Coast-Walker theater.

that we are the laughingest nation on earth."

Edwards is appearing now at the Yost Broadway theater with Marguerite Snow, who will be remembered for her work in "The Million Dollar Mystery," "Chalk Marks," "Lavender and Old Lace" and innumerable other photoplays. Their offering is a comedy diversionment entitled, "Fresh From Hollywood."

"Rich Men's Sons," the drama that opened at the Yost Broadway theater last night, easily takes rank as good entertainment, providing as it does an abundance of laughs and thrills in a swiftly moving story of youthful romance and daring.

Petite Shirley Mason handles the role of the young society girl who awakens the boy's real self, with engaging sincerity, while Ralph Graves makes the most of his opportunities as the boy. George Fawcett plays the irascible railroad magnate in his own accomplished fashion; Robert Cain is equally easy as the smooth villain.

TEMPLE THEATER

A great screen triumvirate—Hobart Bosworth, Jacqueline Logan, and Richard Arlen—play the leading roles in the great drama of the sea, "The Blood Ship," which is now at the Temple theater for a one-week's run. Bosworth's role offers greater opportunities than any he has yet essayed. Miss Logan is cast as his daughter, and sustains the romance with Richard Arlen. The picture is thrillingly realistic, and has its setting along the waterfront in San Francisco in the early '80s, and on board the old clipper ship "Boheemia," rechristened the "Golden Bough" for the purposes of the story.

EASTERN TEAMS SUFFER

Football success in the various sections of the country seem to run in cycles.

The east is experiencing this year more than its share of failures in the leading inter-sectional clashes.

The first two big upsets handed the effete easterners were the defeats of Yale by Georgia and Harvard by Purdue.

Hardly had the gasping died away when Notre Dame ran rough-shod over the great Navy team, winning rather easily, 19-6.

Colgate, which usually boasts one of the best teams in the Atlantic sector, has twice been humiliated. First by Virginia Poly, next by Wabash. A single touchdown was the margin of victory in each instance.

Last but not least of the reverses was the victory of Chicago over the highly touted Pennsylvania team, 18-7.

DERAGA ELECTED C. OF C. DIRECTOR

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 2.—Antar Deraga, U. S. weather observer here, was elected director of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, succeeding H. Cardozo Sloan, who has resigned, at last night's session of the chamber directors.

Decision to hold boat races on the bay December 4 was made by the directors. It is believed that a number of the experts planning to participate in the races at San Diego December 10 to 11 will participate in the Newport events.

The directors decided to meet hereafter on the third Thursday of each month, the next meeting being scheduled for November 17, when a dinner and entertainment will be held. H. L. Sherman and W. L. Jordan were delegated to make arrangements for the affair.

The chamber may enter a float in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, H. L. Sherman being appointed to ascertain the costs of a suitable float.

The chamber voted to join the newly formed Orange county coast association.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"One of the most complex, complicated pieces of machinery in the world, one of the simplest to run," according to George Bancroft, screen actor. "I refer to the railroad locomotive."

"There are three levers for the engineer to worry about. That's all. It's even easier than running an automobile. First, there's a big long lever that sticks up vertically from the floor of the cab. When it's shoved forward, the engine moves forward. When it's pushed backward, the engine's in reverse. This is the first operation and is done before the engine starts."

"Then there's the throttle. Pull it backward, a little way and the engine starts slowly. Pull it a little more and the engine gathers speed. Push it forward as far as it will go, and the engine starts slowing down."

"The only other lever controls the air brake. This one is the most delicate, because if it is opened wide, the engine stops too suddenly."

"Of course, there are many other things a good engineer has to know, but these are the fundamental operations in running an engine."

Bancroft learned to run a locomotive (under the watchful eye of the real engineer) during filming of the railroad comedy, "Tell It to Sweeney," now playing at the West Coast-Walker, and in which both he and Chester Conklin portray engineers. Both Bancroft and Conklin confessed separately and privately that running an engine had fulfilled an ambition formulated when they were boys.

Christening Of Plane Postponed

Because the condition of Martin's airport, due to the recent rains, would not permit a large crowd to assemble in comfort, the christening of the new monoplane of the Santa Ana Aircraft corporation, scheduled for this afternoon at 3 o'clock, has been postponed until Friday afternoon at the same hour, it was announced today, Miss Ruth Taylor, who plays the leading role in the film version of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," will crack a bottle of Uti Orange county grape juice on the highly polished nose of the All-Santa Ana made plane and immediately after the ceremony Eddie Martin will take the plane aloft for its first flight. The ceremony has been arranged by the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce. Incidentally, E. E. Morthland, president of the corporation, said he would appreciate suggestions for a name for the plane. A name suggestive of Santa Ana and Orange county is desired. Morthland can be reached at the offices of the Star Motor Sales company.

Model Home Will Close Saturday

The model home opened recently at 278 South Ross street by E. C. Rogers, owner and builder, will close Sunday evening, according to Ray Goodcell, agent.

Hundreds of Orange county people have visited the home, according to Goodcell, who stated that the visiting hours are from 2 to 5 p. m., and from 7 to 10 p. m.

The house is a six-room affair of Spanish construction, with large windows and oil colored walls.

OFFERS COMPARATIVE BASIS

It should be easy at the close of the season to draw a comparison between coast football on one side arrayed against the east and west on the other.

Southern California is booked to meet Notre Dame at Chicago. These two teams are outstanding and should provide a great battle with Notre Dame favored to win.

Pennsylvania will play California at Berkeley on December 31. Stanford is angling for a game at Palo Alto on Dec. 10. Pittsburgh is a possibility, I am told. Nothing could be more fitting, since Glenn Warner coached at Pitt before going to Stanford.

And there is still the Tournament of Roses game, an annual feature staged at Pasadena. Those in charge would like either Stanford or Southern California to represent the west, but it is understood they are having trouble making such arrangements.

Looks as if these games would prolong the regular football season about four weeks with California offering the setting for the grid activities.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

The modern audience is fairly dying for a chance to laugh, according to Neely Edwards, celebrated comedian now appearing at the Yost Broadway theater, who says: "A decade or so ago a comedian had to wear clothes which were supposed to be humorous. Nowadays we comedians come on in a dress suit and wear only a genial smile by way of make up. We can't get away from the laughs. The American people like to laugh. I really believe

OWNERSHIP

THE first prehistoric man to become a manufacturer owned his own tools—rough instruments of flint made with his own hands.

As industry developed and crude tools gave way to more costly and more complex machinery, men separated themselves into groups—owners of tools and users of tools. Out of this separation grew industrial problems, and in their solution, the trend has been toward a wider ownership of the tools of industry by those who use them.

Industry's most useful tool in America, the telephone, is owned by those it serves. Bell System securities are distributed among 800,000 investors, nearly all of whom are telephone users. The stock of the American Tel. & Tel. Co. is held by more than 420,000 owners, and no individual owns as much as 1%. In this nationwide ownership of nationwide facilities, the tool owner and tool user are identical.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. Jars and Tubes.

CITY JAILER'S PAY UP BEFORE COUNTY BOARD

Santa Ana has no city jail. This statement was the cause of considerable surprise yesterday when it was found to the attention of the board of supervisors, some of whom were not aware of the fact that the city sends its prisoners to the county jail for safe keeping. A legal problem arising out of this situation stumped the county officials yesterday and is today still unsettled.

How can Santa Ana pay the county jailer for the work involved in handling city prisoners? It sounds simple enough but Z. B. West, district attorney, pointed out the legal snag in the affair yesterday when he explained that the jailer's salary is fixed by state law. The supervisors cannot raise it.

A letter from E. B. Collier, city manager, proposed that the city and the county enter into a contract whereby the city's allotment would go to the county treasury and from there to the jailer. But it can't be done, West stated, for the county would thereby be raising the jailer's pay.

The city has been paying the jailer directly for keeping its prisoners in his fold. Collier's letter declared that some definite arrangement should be made whereby county records would show how the transaction is handled, preventing the possibility of any misunderstanding.

The supervisors seemed to be of the opinion that the present custom is the only feasible means of paying the jailer for his extra work and a definite understanding with the city probably will be arranged on the present basis.

Court Notes

Seeks Divorce

Mrs. Ella Byxhe lived with her husband for 24 years and tolerated his drinking, so she alleged today in a complaint for divorce. She stayed with him when he made home brew, drank it and became drunk in the presence of their children, she alleged. Then Harvey Byxhe refused to allow her to have a dentist repair her teeth and that was the end. Mrs. Byxhe has asked the superior court to award her custody of their two children.

Charges Intemperance

Intemperance on the part of her husband is alleged as the reason for a divorce complaint filed today by Mrs. Olga Hodges against Aubrey Hodges. The couple have been married for four years. Mrs. Hodges asks alimony of $108 a month and custody of a minor child.

Sues Sugar Company

The Shell oil company of California had today filed suit against the Holly Sugar company for $509.42. The plaintiff declared that the claim arose from the asserted refusal of the sugar concern to honor an order from Pete Krauchi and C. A. Waymire for drawing on their account. Krauchi and Waymire are said to have delivered beets to the company in sufficient quantity to take care of the order. They are alleged to have purchased over $500 worth of gas from the Shell company and to have paid for it with the order on the Holly company.

Coyote Is Killed By Rancher's Ax

REDDING, Nov. 2.—A coyote wandered into the San Bigelow ranch, 50 miles east of Redding. Bigelow was without a gun to fire upon the animal, so he threw an ax at it. The blade struck the coyote in the head, killing it instantly.

Museum Is Given Rare Old Coins

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 1.—Three 2000 year old Roman coins, worth nothing at face value but priceless as relics, have been presented to the Toledo museum of art by Thomas Winezop.

The coins were found by Winezop, hidden in a crucifix brought to this country from his mother's home in Switzerland seven years ago.

Winezop said the crucifix in which the relics were found had been in his mother's possession about 60 years. He did not know the history of the image previous to those years.

PEGGY LONG QUEEN OF FRESNO CAMPUS

FRESNO, Nov. 2.—Peggy Long, a pretty, smiling eyed brunette, reigns today as queen of the campus at Fresno State college, following her election as the most popular girl at the institution. Jim Russell, all around athlete and member of the varsity football team, was chosen as the most popular man.

New Fraternal Life Insurance Company Formed

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 2.—A new life insurance company with capital of $2,000,000 has been formed and will have its national headquarters in Omaha, according to telegrams received here from officials of the Woodmen of the World Fraternal Insurance society.

The new company will be known as the Globe Life Insurance company. It is a legal reserve organization and will have, as its president, W. A. Fraser, who is national sovereign commander of the Woodmen organization.

National headquarters for the Woodmen lodge now is almost certain to remain in Omaha, it was believed.

Taxi, Please! Name Of London Fashion

LONDON, Nov. 2.—"Taxi, please!" is the name given to one of the new autumn fashions for women. As its name indicates it is the kind of outfit that is needed if one is caught in a sudden shower.

This custom of naming fashions to give some idea of what they are, has ousted the more romantic names such as "Love in a Mist," or "Bloom of the Rose."

Another of this year's creations is called "No Trumps" and is an ensemble of the color of playing cards—black and red.

"High Tea" and "Alimony," the titles of two other fashions are rather more subtle in their meaning, but the former is an afternoon outfit. "Good Gracious," the name of another creation, is intended to cause one to make this ejaculation.

NAVIGATION IS NEW COURSE AT LOCAL COLLEGE

More than 20 men were present at the first meeting in the navigation course given at the Santa Ana Junior college Tuesday under the direction of H. O. Russell of the junior college faculty.

Russell stated that Newport Beach, Balboa, Huntington Beach, Orange and Santa Ana were all represented among students to sign for the course. The group is made up of yacht owners, operators, and aviators.

Russell announced that Antar Deraga of Balboa, U. S. weather observer, had secured a complete set of instruments, charts, and other necessary material and had donated it for the use of the class. The Pacific Coast Yacht Owners' association has also taken an interest in the course, Russell stated, and has offered to aid whenever possible.

The class meets every Monday night, 7:30 o'clock, in the junior college building at Ross and Walnut streets. The course will be completed in 12 weeks and includes studies both in navigation and aviation. The enrollment fee is $5.00. After next Monday night it will be impossible to accept any more enrollments, Russell said.

RECKLESS DRIVERS GET 250 DAY TERMS

Two Huntington Beach men, found guilty of reckless driving, following their arrests over the week-end, were brought to the county jail last night to serve terms of 250 days each, unless in the meantime they raise $1 for each day of the sentence.

The reckless drivers are O. C. Pettibone, 33, and Frank Oranga, 29. Both were arrested on separate charges.

Frankie Boldt, charged with being drunk was given a sentence of 25 days in jail with an alternative of paying a fine of $25.

14 Post Office Sub Stations In $1,000,000 Lease

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 2.—Fourteen post office sub-stations here have been leased for "approximately $1,000,000 in cash" to Raymond D. Brown, Indianapolis, according to an announcement by Charles E. Richardson, Brown's St. Louis representative.

Acquisition of the sub-stations was on the basis of long-term leases to the federal government. The stations will be operated by the St. Louis Post Office corporation, an Indiana corporation of which Brown is head.

St. Paul Mayor Scores History Teaching Method

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 2.—The history teaching methods and subject matter in St. Paul schools have been placed under fire here by L. R. S. Ferguson, commissioner of education.

The inquiry follows a severe criticism of history teaching by Mayor L. C. Hodgson, of St. Paul, in a message to Wm. Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, offering support of the Chicago executive's "America First foundation," a national organization for better citizenship.

OCCUPIED ROOM NOT SO GOOD FOR HIDING

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2.—Selection of an occupied room as a hiding place caused the arrest of James P. Smith on a burglary charge, following a chase on the roof tops of two downtown buildings.

Smith confessed, police said, to attempting to open a rear window on the second floor of a clothing store. The burglar alarm went off and he ran across the roof and leaped into a hotel room. The bed was occupied, so Smith crawled under. The sleepers awoke from the room and notified the police.

Japanese Denied Use Of Guns For Self Protection

FRESNO, Nov. 2.—District Attorney Glenn M. Devore has denied Japanese residents in this district the privilege of using firearms to protect themselves against marauders preying on Japanese homes.

Refusal to allow Japanese the use of firearms was announced following a meeting between Devore, Chief of Police W. G. Walker and M. Osawa, secretary of the Japanese association, representing 4500 Japanese in Fresno and Madera counties.

"Neither the district attorney's office nor the sheriff's office has any power to change the laws prohibiting aliens from carrying concealed weapons," Devore said. "Although we are willing to allow the Japanese to arm themselves against bandits our hands are tied by existing laws."

More stringent police protection in rural districts was urged as protection against two masked bandits who have pillaged more than a dozen Japanese homes in the valley within the last several weeks.

THIS BURGLAR EVEN HAD HIS BREAKFAST

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 2.—While the owner was away, a burglar entered the home of T. R. Stepp here, leisurely prepared breakfast, ate it and left with a suit of clothes, valued at $30, a report to police said.

Stepp returned to his home about 9:30 a. m. and discovered the dirty dishes and his loss. He could name no suspects.

Name Locomotive Sherlock Holmes

LONDON, Nov. 2.—"Sherlock Holmes" is the name by which one of the 20 new 1400 horse power electric locomotives built for the London Metropolitan railroad will be known.

The association lies in the fact that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous detective had his apartments in Baker street, West London, where the railroad has its terminus and headquarters.

BROWNING SAYS HE'S THROUGH WITH ROMANCE

BY PAUL E. WHITE
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—With the approach of winter, the opening of the social season and the thing and another, Edward West Browning, perhaps better known as "Daddy," has once more stepped into the whirl of social activities. Since his blasted romance with the plump "Peaches"—Frances (Peaches) Hosenan Browning as the more formal would say—"Daddy" has been out of the public notice.

But gradually he has returned to the gaieties of social events and today he announced that he is dancing and dancing and dancing—to keep himself fit. Browning sat in his offices where he conducts his many million dollar real estate business and told how.

He attends six to a dozen dances a night. In September he was invited to approximately 1000 social functions and requested that he could attend only 40 per cent of them.

Meets Many Girls
He meets many girls, but is enamored of none; they are but dancing partners.

And he cares not where the girls "Peaches" is today. There is no hope of reconciliation. Browning took care to emphasize that in all his dancing and social life after October 1 is just one dance after another—only the idea of keeping physically and mentally fit is in his mind. Not even a little flirtation enters into it.

He has perfected a simple system to keep track of his engagements. In his apartment, he explained, is a series of envelopes, grouped in seven and each carry the imprint of a day of the week. In these envelopes he slips all the tickets and invitations.

Comes the night and Browning, in dinner suit, reaches into the envelope for that evening. He withdraws some 20 tickets and starts out, going to as many places as possible.

One Place to Another
"Perhaps I go first to the Ritz," he murmured. "Maybe the place is draughty or the crowd unpleasant. I stay only 15 minutes and go to the opening of a new night club. Then to a lodge dance; then to a private affair. And so on until I am ready to retire."

"I need many girls," he went on. "But I am not interested in any one of them."

"Now and then you will see a picture of me and some girls together and she will be called 'Browning's new girl.' You may be sure it is only a press agent stunt. I am not interested in any girl except Dorothy Sunshine."

Dorothy is the 19-year-old adopted daughter of the big lion and mortgage man from the west securities. For a Halloween gift he bought her a basket of fruit weighing 100 pounds.

Two Men to Carry Fruit
"It took two men to carry it," he said, "I wish you could have a picture of it."

Browning was asked whether there was any chance of reconciliation with "Peaches," from whom he won a separation last March after the trial at White Plains, N. Y., had attracted world-wide attention.

"None," he replied. "I do not even know where she is. She may be in California. I do not know and do not want to know."

Want Fast Race Horse? Give Him X-Ray Treatment

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Production of plant and animal life by X-ray treatment is a hundred times faster than heretofore possible will be realized within a few years if the prediction of Leo J. Bromberg, of Chicago, scientific life stock breeder, comes true. His prediction was made after he had analyzed the results of biological tests on fruit flies.

These tests showed conclusively, Bromberg said, that breeders soon will be able to breed greater speed in race horses, greater milk production in dairy cows, bigger eggs, super-hens and more nearly perfect conformation in dogs.

Fresno Protects Books Thompson Wants To Burn

FRESNO, Nov. 2.—While the books that Mayor "Bill" Thompson, of Chicago, threatened to burn as pro-British, can be found in Fresno city branch of the Fresno county free library, Mayor Al Sunderland is not going to start a bonfire, he said yesterday. This statement was made in the face of an invitation Sunderland accepted to join Mayor Thompson's organization, the "Fireside First League." Library attaches say Thompson's advances have caused increased interest in the books he attacked.

OREGON SCHOOL CHANGES NAME: "FARM" IS OUT

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 2.—There is considerable change in name, according to local students of the Oregon Agricultural College, now facing the task of inducing the public to forsake a popular title in favor of a new one.

For many seasons the Oregon Aggies have sent big football teams and other athletic warriors storming up and down the coast and no little fame has attached itself to the school with the name which implied things of a farming nature.

But the Aggies, as students have been called for years, want none of the old name, no matter how well known it has become. They don't even want the old football reference, "O. A. C." used either verbally or in print, even though it is probable that more persons are acquainted with those three letters than are familiar with the city of Corvallis, the home of the school.

For, be it known, Oregon Agricultural college has passed as a name to be employed then it is O. A. C. and not O. A. C.

The change in the name from Oregon Agricultural college to Oregon State college came about through the unanimous demand of students and faculty to drop the name of old grade. Various school clubs voted in favor of the change without a dissenting vote.

No official action was necessary, as the name of the school was Oregon State Agricultural college. The word "Agricultural" was omitted in reference to this school in the peaceful Willamette valley and now it is proposed to reverse the process—to omit the word "agricultural"—and to use the word "State."

Reasons for the change are that only a small percentage of the enrollment are agricultural students, although this department is one of the best in the world. The college has schools of forestry, mining, commerce, pharmacy, home economics, chemical engineering and vocational education in addition to agriculture.

It was contended that a lawyer or engineer from Oregon State college was handicapped because of the old name of his school. The fact that farming was the major subject taught in the institution.

Sales Talk For Heaven Urged By Wisconsin Pastor

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Nov. 2.—Ministers as high powered retailers, selling subdivisions in heaven, is the soul saving plan of the Rev. James M. Johnson, vicar of St. John's parish here.

Dr. Johnson advocates the elimination of the "pious sermon" and "pious word" from the evangelist's campaign, especially in the rural districts.

In their stead he would substitute the "sales talk," selling heaven to the people on its merits over another well known subdivision.

Dr. Johnson would conduct the revival meeting after the fashion of a Rotary club "get-together," with the formal element eliminated in favor of the informal social features of the farm home.

His declares this plan had been found highly successful in the rural districts of Kansas and Wisconsin where it had been put to the test.

Urges Suffrage For Young Girls

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Contending that the flapper is as sensible as men of the same age, Dame Millicent Fawcett, veteran champion of women's rights, in a recent interview, expressed the opinion that English girls over 20 as well as those over 30 be given the vote.

"Queen Victoria was just 18 when she ascended the throne and they could not say enough about her sagacity and her knowledge of affairs. Joan of Arc built for herself a name that will last forever and yet we go on chattering about women not being old enough to vote at 21 while the law declares them old enough to be married at 12," argued Madame Fawcett.

"It is nonsense," she said, "the young woman not taking any interest in national affairs and being more easily swayed than men. But it is often said that women won't listen to anybody else when they have once made up their minds."

FARM NEWS

CITRUS COURSE SENDING BY GROVE OWNERS

The outstanding educational event of the year for Orange county citrus growers is assured of splendid patronage next week when the second annual short course opens at the Orange Union high school on Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Many groups are interested in the event, which is the first of its kind to be held in the southern part of the county. Last year it was held at Fullerton.

The citrus department of the farm bureau, the farm centers, the agricultural committee of the Orange chamber of commerce and the various citrus associations are all co-operating with the agricultural extension service to inform the growers of the valuable program of practical lectures and demonstrations.

Some 250 citrus growers from all parts of the county attended the school last year. They all pronounced the event one of the most satisfactory sources of information available to the citrus industry.

A few of the growers who endorse the course are John Adams, Orange; W. N. Cummings, El Modena; Paul Anderson, Garden Grove; Arthur Lyon, Santa Ana; S. E. McCulloch, Placentia; Dr. S. E. Twombly, Fullerton; W. B. Lockett, Villa Park; Ross Shafer, Tustin; Ralph Shook, Yorba Linda; O. E. Steward, Anaheim; Clyde Watson, Orange; J. J. Dwyer, Anaheim; E. D. Lane, Placentia; W. W. Perry, Villa Park; Joseph Carroll, Anaheim; S. C. Hartman, Fullerton; H. R. Smith, Tustin; Dr. J. R. Schofield, Buena Park; Earl Crawford, Olive; B. J. Reynolds, Santa Ana, and many others.

Assistant Farm Advisor

A new departure in agricultural club work in California will be the holding of the first agricultural club leaders' short course at the University of California, college of agriculture, Davis, next week. With the steady growth of these clubs in California and the consequent increase in the number of volunteer adult leaders, it was deemed advisable to give these leaders some concentrated, first hand information which was not available in the counties.

The program for the short course has just been received from the main office of the agricultural extension service and has some very attractive features. The course will open November 7 and will run the entire week. The leaders will be divided into subject matter departments and will receive about three hours per day instruction in poultry, dairying, vegetables, or clothing, according to their choice. The rest of each day will be devoted to various phases of club work, such as enrolling members, closing contests, recreational activities and personal improvement. This course of instruction will be free of charge to leaders. Free sleeping accommodations will be furnished at the college, so the leaders will only have to furnish their own meals and transportation.

Orange county club leaders will be represented at this meeting by George E. Quigley, of Yorba Linda. At the last meeting of the Agricultural Club council of this county, $25 was voted to help defray some of the expense for gas, oil and meals for any leaders who might attend from here.

If any leader finds it possible for him to go, he should get in touch with the farm advisor's office, Santa Ana, at once.

3 DEMONSTRATIONS FOR WALNUT MEN

The agricultural extension service announces three field demonstrations to be held this week for walnut growers of Orange county. Walnut pruning and wiring for permanent bracing will be shown by specialists in these lines. The meetings are open to all growers. They are scheduled as follows: November 3, 2 p. m., place of J. L. Hasenyaeger, 2115 Grand avenue, just south of Santa Clara avenue, Santa Ana. November 4, 10 a. m., place of H. E. Carner, Garden Grove boulevard, one and one-half miles north of Garden Grove; 2 p. m., place of M. H. Peeler, Placentia avenue, one-quarter mile south of Chapman avenue.

Hotel Men Will Hold Discussion

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—Everything in the hotel line, ranging from the most delectable French pastries to protective measures for innkeepers is expected to come up for public or private discussion at the American Hotel Men's association convention. Special trains from Atlantic and Pacific coast points, and from other sections of the United States have landed hundreds of operators of the nation's hotels, large and small, in this city, for the three-day meeting. Canadian delegates, who are affiliated with the association, were also represented by a good sized group.

Feed Summary Is Available At Bureau Office

Feeding the dairy cow efficiently becomes more involved in a region where all, or nearly all, of the feed is purchased rather than grown on the home place. More attention need be paid as to the quality and kind of feed, as the economy of the ration receives more emphasis than where home grown feeds are used, it is pointed out.

In order that a line might be secured on the kinds of feed and quantity feed per cow per day by the members in the cowtesting association, the agricultural extension service conducted a survey to learn these facts. This survey is completed and summarized and available for distribution. Anyone wishing a copy may obtain the same at the farm advisors office.

On November 3, at 7:30 p. m., a meeting is being called at the hall of records to discuss the summary, which is open to the public.

FOREST FIELD TOUR PLANNED NOVEMBER 19

Definite plans for the forestry field tour November 19, under the auspices of the Orange County farm bureau have been arranged. The trip will afford an opportunity to study the county's watershed under the guidance of specialists, who will be able to point out interesting places and explain the why of things. The farm bureau will be assisted by the United States Forest Service, county officials, and the extension service of the University of California. It is planned to devote the entire day to a study of forest conditions and its effect on water, climate and human life.

The itinerary of the trip follows: 9 a. m., leave hall of records, Santa Ana, led by state motor police; 9:30, arrive Orange County park, view the new forestry nursery conducted by the farm bureau, Orange county supervisors and forestry service co-operating. Explanation by W. N. Cummings, chairman, farm bureau forestry committee; 9:45, leave park for Oak Flat fire station, going over the new fire protection road constructed jointly by the county of Orange and the U. S. forest service at a cost of $25,000. View proposed Santiago dam site en route; 10:45, arrive Oak Flat, inspect new fire breaks. Explanation of work by Forest Supervisor J. E. Elliott; 11:30, leave Oak Flat for return to Ranger camp; 12, arrive Ranger camp and lunch, fire-fighting style, under auspices of the U. S. forestry department. Dinner followed by short talk by Woodbridge Metcalf, extension forester, University of California. Address by Paul Bailey, Orange county conservation engineer; William Smith, Orange county supervisor; Winfield Scott, of the American reforestation committee, Los Angeles.

2 p. m., leave Ranger camp for Harding reservoir, via Silverado canyon, viewing natural forest covering enroute; 3, arrive Harding reservoir, view silt conditions caused by Hathaway fire. Explanation and figures showing comparative water run-off by Engineer W. W. Hoy; 4, leave Modjeska's for summit; 4:15, arrive summit of Modjeska grade. Full view of Hathaway burn. Trabuco watershed; 4:30, leave for home via El Toro.

Those wishing to take the trip may join the caravan at the hall of records at Santa Ana before 9 a. m., or they may join at the party at Orange County park at 3:30 a. m.

SULPHATE IS USED FOR ROUNDWORMS

By W. M. CORY
Assistant Farm Advisor

Intestinal roundworms in poultry is probably one of the most general parasites that the poultryman has to contend with, not because of any unsatisfactory means of control, but because the owner does not know they are present until after a great deal of the damage has been done. The nicotine sulphate capsules have given quite satisfactory control, much more so than the tobacco dust in the mash, because with the capsule each bird receives the required dosage. Nicotine sulphate has no corrective effect on tapeworms, so that where they are present, kamala capsules need be given.

Where the poultryman is a close observer of his growing stock, he can quickly note the effect of roundworm infestations, provided the stock is free from colds or other infection that might cause them to stop growing. For further conviction it would be well to examine one or more birds. Damp spots in the yards or houses should be avoided as they provide excellent hatching conditions for the worm eggs. Some poultrymen are going to the extent of concreting the yards of the brooder houses which will undoubtedly tend to decrease co-cidiosis and roundworm infestation.

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Bond prices showed a firmer tone today in fairly active turnover. The rise was most marked in the foreign issues while railroad issues moved up rapidly and most of the industrials displayed a better tone.

Easier call money—renewals were made at 3 1/2 per cent—and influx of reinvestment funds helped with reduced amounts in new offerings were responsible for the better demand. Then too, the market's technical position has been much improved in recent selling which left many securities at prices which increased their yield to the point where they are now being picked up for speculation.

The general display of strength was not reflected in the United States government section today. All of the treasury issues were about 1/2 point lower while the Liberties held about steady with the second 4 1/2's apparently pegged at 100. Selling of treasuries was considered a natural reaction to the sharp advance of the last two sessions. French and Italian issues led the upwardly moving foreign department. French 7 1/2's and 5's each gained 1/2 while Paris Lyons 6's were up nearly a point. South were bid up in contrast to their recent weakness and several of the Mexican issues rose in renewed demand, opened by the feeling that Ambassador Morrow would secure favorable terms for American investors in interest and sinking fund requirements. Belgian, German and Italian issues also moved higher.

Most of the Railroad securities went higher with Chicago, Northwestern and Great Northern leading. Great Western 4's, Florida East Coast 5's, Frisco 4's and the Erie moved up fractionally. Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5's lost 1/2 while the Erie and Chicago Traction issues were quiet and steady.

Change in the market was more mixed in the industrials but the majority of issues in this group gained ground. American Telephone and Telegraph issues were higher; oils were firm with Standard 6's with warrants up 1/2 point; coppers and sugars held steady.

NEW YORK CURE
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A long list of new high prices for the year was in the curb market today on comparatively light trading. American rolling mills was the outstanding feature of the market, entering a price of $4 before profit taking carried it below that figure. Borden company was also in brisk demand following the announcement of the acquisition of the Reid Ice cream corporation and declaration of $1.50 quarterly dividend, placing the issue on a $6 annual basis against $5 previously paid. Vacuum American, Nickel and Steel, some selling on the disappointment of the declaration of only $1 extra dividend when a stock dividend had been expected.

Durham Duplex, Metropolitan chain stores and Holland furnace in the industrial group all sold at the highest prices of the year on good buying. Insurance company of North America, Nicholas Shepard and Industrial Rayon also showed considerable price movement. Celluloid Tubing and Clearing were both under profit taking pressure following their advance of yesterday.

Utility prices were mixed with American Gas and Electric continuing the advance that was started early this week. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore was slightly higher after an increase in the dividend rate yesterday while International Utilities "A" and Southern Power sold above last night's closing levels.

Indiana Pipe Line sold at the high for the year but later profit taking shaded this level slightly while Illinois Pipe Line sold fractionally. With the exception of Vacuum Oil the remainder of the Standard Oil list was featureless with few sales and little changes in prices.

Tidal Osage led the independent oils with a fair sized advance while Alsea reserves in Creole Syndicate were in fair demand.

Bonds were steady with the exception of Nicholas Shepard 6s which sold in sympathy with the common to a new high price for the year.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Describing the market, the Wall Street Journal says:

Price movements today suggested that the drastic house cleaning of the last several weeks was in its final stages. Fivotal stocks displayed increasing resistance to bearish pressure, indicating that impairment of technical conditions created by speculative buying had hardly been corrected.

Further aggressive attempts were made to depress stocks experiencing unfavorable earnings. Among these were United States Rubber, Hudson, Remington Rand, Gimbel and General Railway Signal but the outstanding feature of the market was the failure of weakness in individual issues to communicate itself to the main body of stocks.

Impressive strength was shown in seasonal dividend issues like Union Carbide, Consolidated Gas and Am. Tobacco shares.

Fivotal issues such as Steel and General Motors gave evidence of great improvement in their market position.

FOR DONS SATURDAY WOULD CLEAR PATH TO J. C. TITLE

If Santa Ana can "get by" Pasadena junior college in the crucial game of the Southern California Junior College conference schedule, there will be no need for further fears about the rest of the season's frays, Coach Bill Cook, mentor for the Santa Ana Don eleven, declared today as he prepared to use his strongest array for the contest which will be played in the Santa Ana high school arena Saturday afternoon.

Pasadena is rated as one of the strongest teams in the conference, defeated but once this season and that time by the powerful San Bernardino junior college eleven.

Kickoff will be at 2:30 o'clock. The Santa Ana college team, after a series of games away from home, is returning to play before the home folk for the first time since the conference schedule opened against Fullerton.

For the first time in three weeks, Coach Cook will have virtually the full strength of his squad to throw into the game with the Pasadena Pirates. Blanchard Beatty, the fair-haired Newport Beach lad who is a sensation at quarterback, will again be in the lineup. He was working out with the team yesterday and his injured ankle seemed to be fully healed.

"Pete" Twist, fleet halfback, may not be able to play because of boils on his arms, however. In place of Twist, Bill Poe, who has been calling the signals during Beatty's leave of absence, is likely to start in the outside half-back position. It was announced, Bill Luck and Luke Davis will again be ready to take their places in the backfield after being out for two weeks.

Walker beat McGue to the floor in the first round, using a series of rights and lefts to the body and a crashing right to the jaw.

Before McGue was counted out he showed one of the gamiest streaks ever exhibited in the prize ring. Victim of what might be termed a lucky punch, a right to the jaw as the round opened, McGue was groggy from the start.

Walker put his right to the jaw with several lefts to the head which finally sent Mike to the floor for the count of nine.

His eyes glazed, McGue came up gamely and tried to stay off Walker's blows. However, he went down again for the count of eight.

As the referee started McGue grabbed a rope, pulled himself to a standing posture and turned toward Mickey with a sickly sort of smile. He stood with his arms down. The expression on his face seemed to say: "I'm whipped but they won't count Mike McGue out until he's unconscious."

The last time McGue got up he didn't have a chance in the world to stand but the Irish nerve would not allow him to stay down.

As a result of the victory Walker invades the light heavyweight class and has announced he is after Jimmy Slattery, chief claimant to the title.

Walker previously held the welterweight title and is the present holder of the middleweight championship.

The U. S. senator with the longest service record is Senator Warren, of Wyoming, elected in 1895. Representative Butler, of Pennsylvania, was elected in 1897.

The largest spider in the world is the bird-spider of South America. Its legs have a spread of seven or eight inches.

At least that's how the ball player imagines the metamorphosis. There are several sadder, wiser men who wear a hunted look these days and who could tell him differently, for the open season for baseball managers is on.

Five major league clubs will have new pilots in 1928, making a total of 13 managerial changes in two seasons.

Of the eight new managers who started the 1927 season, five survived the unkindest cut of autumn. In the American league, the newcomers met with signal and uniform lack of success. In the National league, with one exception, quite the reverse was the case.

Two of the three new National league pilots were Donie Bush and Bob O'Farrell, and it will be recalled that at the finish these two were fighting for the flag right down into the penultimate game of the season.

Stuffy McInnis, the third tyro of the trio, fell flat into the basement with a load of Philadelphia ivory on top of him. The National league, therefore, scored an average of .667 in "Be Kind to New Managers" year. Whereas the American league's average was .000.

At the start of the season, there were five new managers on the job in the junior circuit. At the close, their clubs were roosting on the five lowest rungs of the American league ladder.

Miller Huggins, Connie Mack and Bucky Harris were the only managers retained by American league clubs after the scandals and shakeups of last winter—and their clubs ran one-two-three!

Cleveland and Chicago, of the American league clubs which tried new managers this year, are ready to try, try again. Jack McAllister and Ray Schalk are wearing that restless, furtive air indigenous to the turkey tribe at this time of year.

The National league is due for three managerial changes. The Phillies have nothing against "Stuffy" McInnis, but certainly "Stuffy" has good grounds for a damage suit or something, against the Phils. So there'll be a new manager there; maybe a new owner, too.

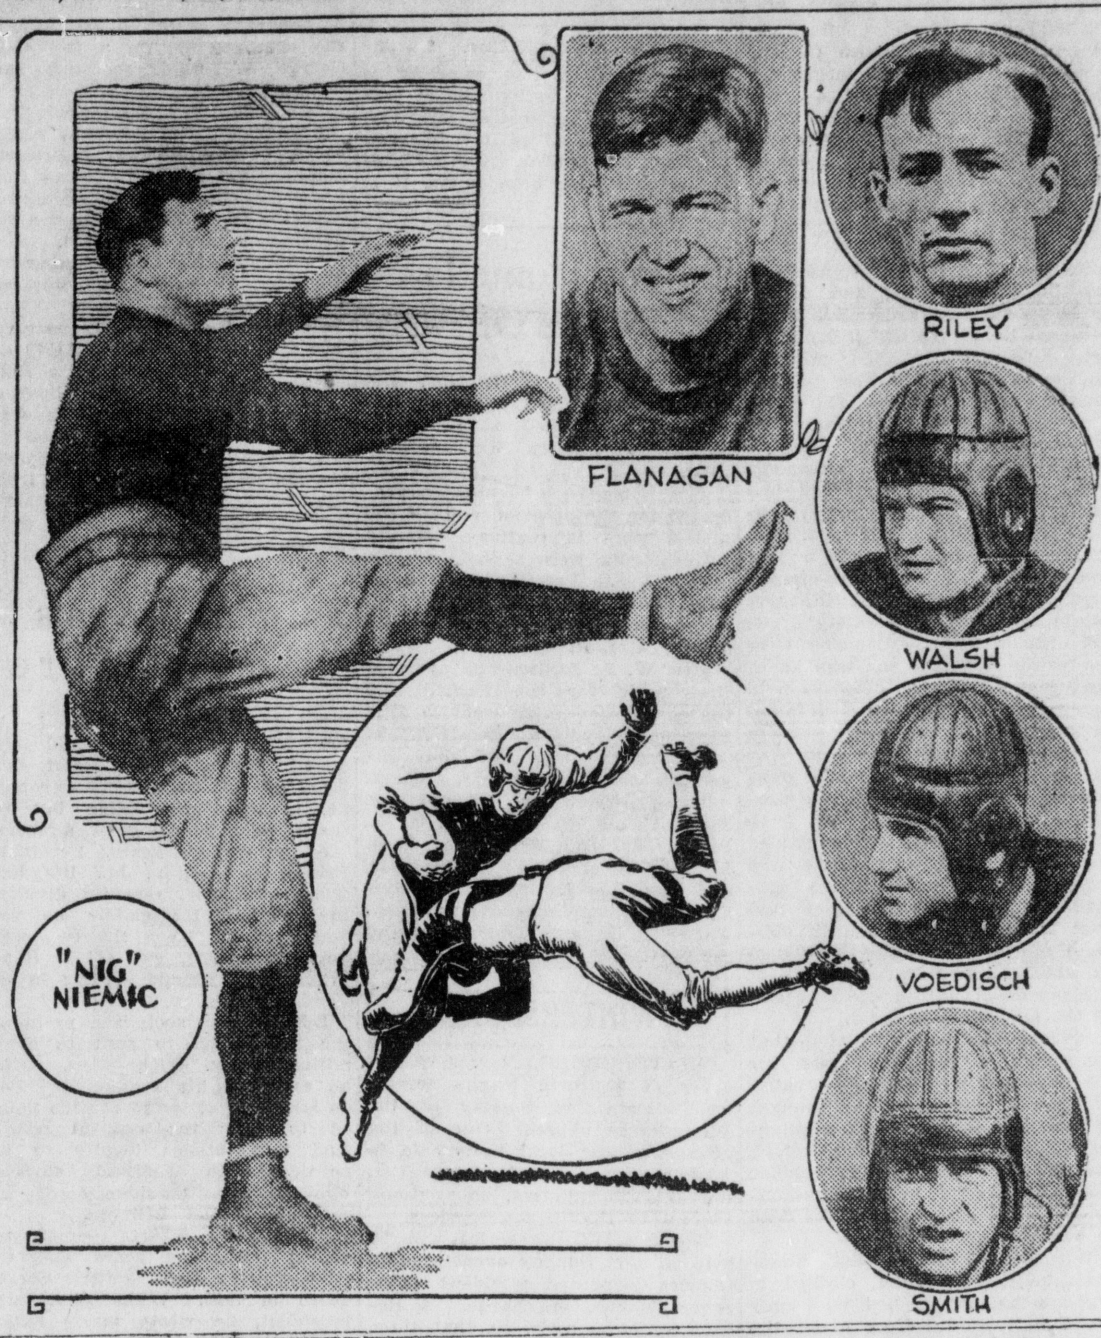

Dave Bancroft lost all control of the Boston Braves during the club's last western swing of the 1927 season, and so he lost his scalp as well.

Such is the immutable law of the tribe. Judge Emil Fuchs, who was very fond of Banny, sold him down the river to Brooklyn.

The fifth new manager of the year will be Rogers Hornsby, who is slated to succeed John J. McGraw as active boss of the New York Giants. Naturally, this is no reflection upon McGraw's managerial ability. It is rather a reflection on his shape.

MINNESOTA MAY TROUBLE ROCKNE'S MEN

It is a real battle that Notre Dame expects from Minnesota next Saturday. Herb Jostling, the Gophers' All-American fullback, has been held in reserve for this parting shot at the Irish and as football fans know Minnesota is always a pretty tough nut to crack. They grow big and strong up in that climate and if Notre Dame is beaten at all some say Minnesota will do it. Here are six of the stars Knute Rockne will send at the Northerners—Christy Flanagan, "Nig" Niemiec, and Charles Riley, backs, and Smith, captain, Voedisch and Walsh, stellar linemen.

SENIOR GIRLS NEAR SCHOOL
INTERCLASS CASABA CROWN

Senior girls, by their 24 to 22 victory over the junior girls in the first game of the second series of interclass contests at Santa Ana high school, had virtually clinched the championship today with but one more game to play against the sophomore team.

The seniors completed their schedule without a defeat. Victory over the juniors yesterday was the second that the seniors have scored over them. The sophomores are trailing behind the juniors with their first win still to be achieved.

A game battle was made by the juniors in their attempt to unseat the seniors. Although the senior co-ed team was leading at the half by the margin of 18 to 8, the juniors staged an exciting rally that brought the score to within two points of a tie. Another minute of the ball might have scored the basket needed.

Forwards on both teams were outstanding in their team playing. Miss Rowena Cone scored 14 points and Miss Margaret Ellis 10 for the seniors. Miss Wilma Peterson, junior captain, scored 12 points and her teammate Elisabeth Hurd made 10.

The lineup:
Seniors (24) (22) Juniors
Cone (14).....F..... (12) Patterson
Ellis (10).....F..... (10) Hurd
Spurgeon.....C..... (10) Sherwood
Granger.....C..... (10) Bennington
Pea.....G..... (10) Allen
Markel.....G..... (10) Moon
Substitutions: Seniors—O'Brien for Ellis; Morris for Spurgeon; Thornton for Granger. Juniors—Breckenridge for Sherwood; Martin for Bennington; McKinstry for Martin; Frisbie for Moon.

HEALING OF BREACH BETWEEN PRINCETON, YALE SEEN WHEN
CREWS MATCHED IN REGATTA

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—With Yale oarsmen in a nearby shell, carrying on the role of peacemakers the 150-pound crews of Harvard and Princeton will race at Donby, Conn., in a regatta arranged for May 19, 1928. This is news of tremendous importance to the college world and especially to alumni and undergraduates of the two universities which severed athletic relations a year ago.

Strenuous denials came from Cambridge and Princeton that this race next spring constitutes resumption of those relations.

Those interested in maintaining the breach can deny all day if they please but when the race is over the breach will have been closed by a couple of miles of sporting endeavor.

A Harvard crew is going to row against a Princeton crew on the River Thames in May and any ostrich like declarations to the contrary cannot hide the fact that the peacemakers at Yale have contributed another good lick to the cause.

Dr. Charles Kennedy, chairman of Princeton's board of athletic control, wires emphatically that when his school severed relations in November, 1926, the action was meant to apply to dual contests only.

He points out that Princeton did not withdraw from the inter-collegiate track and field games in which Harvard men were entered and so forth.

The fact remains that since the break, Yale men have been working to restore friendship and bring about a renewal of athletic engagements between the Crimson and the Tiger.

QUADRINI WINS TITLE
MILAN, Nov. 2.—Quadrini, the Italian featherweight champion, last night defeated Scille, the European champion, on points. The bout between Ermino Spalla and Jack Taylor of America, has been cancelled.

DUNDEE HOPES TO KNOCK OUT
'WILDCAT ACE'

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, is willing to lend a hand—in fact two hands with all the power and smack he can muster behind them—to aid and abet Ace Hudkins' retirement from the ring in case he fails to lift Joe's crown in their title fight here tomorrow night.

"Anyone is a sucker, who quits the ring because he loses a fight," the champion said, referring to Hudkins' statement to the United Press yesterday that he would abandon the fistie game if he comes out second best in his chance at Dundee's title, "but if Hudkins feels that way he can count on plenty of help from me—and he is as good as retired now."

Dundee, in the pink of condition after rigorous training featured by slashing sparring bouts in preparation for Hudkins, declared he held no fear of the outcome of the 10-round bout with the Nebraska "Wildcat."

Doesn't Underestimate Ace
"Don't think that I underestimate Hudkins," he said, "but I feel confident that I can put him away by a knockout. I expect a tough battle while he lasts, but I don't think I'll have to go the route this time to take my crown back to Baltimore."

"As for quitting in case I lose, I'm not such a sucker as that. But put this down. I don't travel all the way from the east coast with the idea of losing a championship. It's worth too much to me."

Dundee, the clever ring master, adept at the shifting, slashing style of hitting, mixed with enough footwork to keep his person free of too many hard blows, presents a contrast to Hudkins, who gives and takes on the theory he is tough enough to outbatter any man his weight in the world. In Dundee, however, he will meet an opponent who packs a jarring wallop—a harder blow than that of Sammy Baker, who slugged a losing fight with Hudkins here a few months ago.

Hudkins May Retire
It was Ace's style of blow for blow with attendant damage to himself as well as the other fellow that prompted the Lincoln fighter to his decision to take on a couple more fights and then retire if he falls short against Dundee.

"I've saved my money from 147 fights and I'll get out with my wealth," was Hudkins' exact phraseology. He thinks that fight fans, who have seen him bruised and battered, but came to the last round and offered times returned winner on his fighting heart alone, will understand.

And the whole idea is perfectly agreeable to Dundee, who wants to send the glad tidings back to Baltimore.

Drury Shifted To Fullback Position

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Captain Morley Drury, Southern California's backfield ace, may play fullback against Colorado a week from Saturday and in games thereafter. Edelson, who was forced to leave the California game with a bad knee, is still in bad shape and Drury took over his fullback job in practice yesterday.

Williams and Elliott alternated at Drury's quarterback post.

PASSING GAME EXPECTED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—A passing game is in prospect here Saturday when Loyola meets Gonzaga university in the hardest game on the Loyola card. Both teams are reported adept at the aerial game.

COAST LEAGUE
ELEVEN'S FACE
BUSY SATURDAY

Coast Preparatory league football teams turn into that November stretch this week and only the strong of heart will survive those last few grueling steps to the championship tape.

One of the league's undefeated eleven's will fall Saturday, barring games, humbling Whittier, South Pasadena and San Diego, while Alhambra holds decisions over San Diego and Whittier and a scoreless tie with Long Beach.

Pasadena should be the favorite off its record but competent critics tell us the Moors, coached by George Hobbs, last year's counselor at Anaheim, will win. Pasadena's strength lies in its passing in Southern California's preponderance, and it really is to Santa Ana's benefit that Pasadena win because the Moors will have almost clear sailing to the title if they get by the Bulldogs, Santa Ana being the only opponent of class remaining on their schedule.

Whittier, conqueror of Santa Ana, travels to San Diego for what should be an interesting contest, bulk and power being opposed by speed and precision as represented by the Hiltoppers.

Long Beach draws a "breather," going to South Pasadena. The Tigers will hardly do more than give the Jackrabbits a workout.

Santa Ana and Glendale, having played last week while the other eleven's were drawing a "bye," will not meet conference opposition this time. Santa Ana will play Orange in a ruckus that will have no bearing on the league status of either institution but Glendale will remain idle, resting after disastrous battles with Long Beach and Santa Ana on succeeding Saturdays.

OLIVER ALTERS
PLANS AS BIG CONTEST NEARS

Wise men change their minds and so "Tex" Oliver, Santa Ana high school football coach, altered his today and announced definitely that his Poly regulars would play at least half of the time against Coach Stewart White's Orange eleven in the much-discussed gridiron argument between the two schools here Friday afternoon. Oliver previously had intended to start his reserves and keep them in at least three quarters.

Whether it was a desire to give his firsts more and harder work or a sudden hunch that perhaps these Orangemen have something more than a ballyhoo was not divulged by the canny Texan.

Oliver says he hopes to win from White's boys but that he wants to beat Pasadena, Alhambra and San Diego much more and that he will spare his first stringers as much as possible but when he announces that the regulars will be in there at least half of the time he means that he is going to try to beat Orange.

Santa Ana probably will need its first string and maybe more. Orange will come to this city with the finest record of point-making of almost any team in Southern California and it must not be forgotten that all of the neighboring city's rivals weren't setups.

Here is Orange's record:
Orange 6, Compton 6.
Orange 25, Tustin 0.
Orange 33, San Bernardino 7.
Orange 10, Excelsior 0.
Orange 31, Garden Grove 0.
Orange 26, Brea-Orinda 0.

This gives White's tribe a total of 141 points as against 13 registered by their opponents in six games. It will be noted that none of Orange's opponents in the Orange County league has been able to score. Compton, which held the neighboring city players even, had the advantage of two weeks more practice than White's outfit and it is regarded as one of the best in the south. San Bernardino, outclassed from the start, is one of the leading eleven in the citrus belt loop.

Orange depends mostly on a forward passing attack built around its two backfield speed-burners, Captain "Whitey" Edwards and Wayne Blackburn.

SANTA ANA, ORANGE 'B'
MEN MIX TOMORROW

With their defense strengthened, the Santa Ana Class B (130-pound) team will take the field tomorrow afternoon against the Orange high school "Bees" with a favorable chance to win the game that has been arranged along with the variety tilt between the two nearby cities for this week's grid menu.

The two lightweight teams will be fairly evenly matched, according to comparative scoring.

Orange recently battled the Santa Ana Julia Lathrop junior high school lightweight to a 9 to 0 tie. Coach Clyde Cook matched his local team against the Lathrop aggregation in a scrimmage practice yesterday and no scores were kept but the two eleven's fought on equal basis.

The same lineup with the exception of a change in the backfield will be sent against Orange as that used against Glendale last week. Woodhouse, a reserve fullback, is to have his chance starting at halfback. The other backfield players are to be Hilligass, quarterback; Flanders, halfback, and Smith, fullback. Hales and Pennix probably will get into action during the game. On the line Garlock and Watkins will play ends; Crane and Dixon, tackles; Speer and Tarver, guards and Mencham, center. Boyle, end, and Vegely tackle, may be given the nod.

It's getting so nowadays that every time a ball player finishes the season with his batting average about .300 he takes off his shoes, puts his feet on the mantle and spends the long, frosty evenings dreaming of the day when he will fall into a soft managerial berth and come up covered with laurel and other crinkly green goods.

At least that's how the ball player imagines the metamorphosis. There are several sadder, wiser men who wear a hunted look these days and who could tell him differently, for the open season for baseball managers is on.

So Clean Inside, No Fear of Perspiration Offense, However Over-Heated

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.

"It's no trick to clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "sals." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane alone with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But when you cascade the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a cascara is a beautiful form in which to take cascara; children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have more.

And what comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascara tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after. With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.—Adv.

House Burns As Firemen Seek Truck

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 2.—Seal Beach tried mixing politics and fire yesterday and today, Mr. Eisner, owner of a house located at Main street and the Coast highway, can testify that the result is, the entire loss of one good home and the endangering of one good filling station, saved only by the timely arrival of the Long Beach fire department.

Opponents of J. L. Hilliker, recall leader, say he let the batteries run down in the fire truck and didn't keep the equipment up. Hilliker's followers say the city trustees took the fire department away from Hilliker's garage and that it couldn't be found for some little time yesterday. They also say the city trustees delayed in buying hose until a week or so ago and that it has not arrived. The hose used yesterday leaked in numerous places. The councilmen's backers say the hose had not been taken care of by the recallers, who have had it in charge. Fire and politics won't mix. Seal Beach tried it.

PERMITS FOR ANAHEIM SHOW $14,000 GAIN

ANAHEIM, Nov. 2.—Although building permits issued during the month of October dropped off slightly as compared with the month of September, this year, they showed an increase in value of approximately $14,000 over the month of October, last year, according to report today by Building Inspector R. Nyboe.

During the past month, 13 permits were issued, aggregating $21,177, as compared with 22 permits valued at $7,723 during October, 1926.

Building totals for the first 10 months of this year have also shown a gratifying increase over the same period last year, the figures being $38,251 and $348,606, respectively.

Prospective builders seem to be inclined to await the outcome of the proposed Anaheim zoning ordinance, which is expected to be put into effect in the near future.

HAMMER PLAYS PART IN BEACH FIGHT REPORT

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 2.—Mayor R. E. Dolley, now under fire and threatened with recall from his office, yesterday afternoon brandished a hammer when E. W. Reed, constable of Seal Beach, attempted to serve Dolley with court instructions issued by Judge Marks and pertaining to the recall, according to reports from Seal Beach.

Dolley is asserted to have called Constable Reed, one of the leaders of the recall movement, a "dirty sneak." He refused to accept service, it is said.

It is understood that Reed, after Dolley refused service on the papers, left the papers lying on a fence. Dolley, after Reed's departure, is said to have picked the papers up and read them.

Branding a hammer with which he was employed at the time, Dolley barred the exit from his back yard where the service was attempted and in no uncertain terms informed Reed of his opinion of the whole recall fight and its cause, so the story goes.

Advocates of the recall maintain that the present incumbents have been inefficient in their administration and one of the direct charges dealt with alleged neglect of the street superintendent's office. Many charges are advanced by the leaders of the recall movement and it is their assertion that they will have no trouble winning the proposed election.

On the other side adherents of the present administration hold that the cause of the recall petition is of long standing and that the whole trouble was caused when the present members of the city council made Seal Beach a law abiding city. Mayor Dolley declares that the recall petition was the result of an old vendetta and fight that has been carried on for some time and that the men being recalled are for the enforcement of the 18th amendment as far as Seal Beach is concerned.

SUBCONSCIOUS MIND HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR SUICIDE OF ANAHEIM REALTY MAN

ANAHEIM, Nov. 2.—If a man shoots himself while asleep, his subconscious mind directing the act which his conscious self would eschew, has he committed suicide?

This question troubled members of the coroner's jury that yesterday afternoon held an inquest over the body of G. M. Simpson, Anaheim real estate man, whose lifeless body, with a bullet wound in the head, was found in his bed last Monday noon.

The inquest was held in the Backs-Terry and Campbell funeral chapel, this city, with Coroner Charles D. Brown officiating and this ticklish hypothetical question was propounded to the jury by C. Randall, prominent Anaheim real estate man, intimate friend of the Simpson family and, until recently, business partner of the deceased in the Simpson Realty company.

Simpson had resided in Anaheim for the past 17 years and, as far as is known, was successful in his business here. He had large property interests in ranch property both near Anaheim, where his paternal home is located at 837 South East street, and at Del Mar.

Randall was the chief witness at the inquest yesterday afternoon.

Though the dead man had had several important financial reverses and, during the past two months, had not been in robust health, Randall declared himself unwilling to admit that the real estate man had deliberately taken his own life. "His troubles were not serious enough nor was he of sufficiently a morose disposition to carry out such an act," Randall declared.

Before announcing the startling theory that the dead man's subconscious mind and not his conscious self had caused him to shoot himself, Randall explained that, in his early years, he had trained himself to become a specialist on nervous disorders and ever since had studied such subjects as psychoanalysis, Freudism in which he had learned much of the power of auto-suggestion and of the subconscious mind.

He gave it as his opinion that Simpson, in brooding over his troubles and worries and because of his age, 64 years, the thought of possible self-destruction might have entered his mind and, though dismised, might have become deeply imbedded in his subconscious mind, later causing the deed to be committed.

Witnesses testified that Simpson's body was found, clothed in night attire, in his bed with only his right arm out from under the covers in a dressing room nearby.

That he had carefully laid out clean clothes to be put on the following morning, taken the trouble to wind the clock and his watch and had written a check which he planned to deliver the following morning.

The revolver, a .38 calibre Iver Johnson, was found lying on the man's chest near his right hand.

Ehrle Simpson, a son, testified that it was one that was kept in a certain drawer in the dressing room nearby.

The bullet wound in the dead man's head was found near the back of the head, the natural place—it was pointed out, for a person to select to accomplish self destruction.

Randall scouted the idea that Simpson had taken the revolver to bed with him with the idea of shooting himself, by introducing evidence to show that it was the man's custom, when alone in the house, to sleep with the revolver under his pillow.

According to Randall's theory, the man reached under the pillow for the revolver and shot himself acting under the impulse of a dream created by the subtle influence of his subconscious mind.

Other witnesses at the inquest were the son, Ehrle, who testified as to the circumstances of finding the body; Dr. Judson H. Cole, of Anaheim, family physician, who told of conditions in the bed room as he found them when called to the scene soon after the discovery of the tragedy; and Herman Zabel, Walker, partner of the First Presbyterian church of Anaheim, officiating. Members of the Anaheim Masonic lodge of which deceased was a member, had charge of the services at the graveside in Loma Vista cemetery, Fullerton.

Survivors include the widow, two sons, Ehrle of Del Mar, and Gerald, of Buena Vista, and his mother in Montana.

ANAHEIM FIRM READY TO PAY OFF LAND DEBT

ANAHEIM, Nov. 2.—Clear title to the 20-acre industrial tract in the sugar factory district, purchased by the Anaheim Community Industrial Land company some years ago as a means of providing for the future industrial growth of the city, is to be acquired by the company within a few days, George W. Reid, secretary, announced today.

The land was purchased from the Aldrich Land company and a $6813 obligation has been outstanding against it for some time. Final settlement of this amount is expected to be made within a few days, Secretary Reid said.

In outstanding notes, long overdue, the company has approximately $1500, the Steele Finley Paying company recently purchased an acre for $2000 and $1500 less in the treasury, making a total of $5100 to meet the obligation. Arrangements have been made for raising the balance, it is said.

The Anaheim company purchased the land for $68,800. Of this tract, approximately one and a half acres has been sold leaving 18 1/2 acres representing the investment.

FARMER REVEALS EBERT'S SECRET

LOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 1.—An Iowa farmer probably could have done the late Fritz Ebert, first president of the German republic, to political oblivion but for the careful guarding of a secret.

Silent for 40 years, Ferdinand Frick, of Ashton, Ia., life long friend of Ebert, recently divulged the secret. He claims he saw young Ebert, when the two were boyhood chums, cut off a finger in order to escape service in the German army.

Devotion to socialism prompted the boy Ebert to seek to evade military duty, Frick says. Often he espoused his socialist beliefs on street corners and crowds paused to hear the outflow orator.

And this intense loyalty to his political faith eventually elevated him to the presidency of his country, Frick believes.

Frick and Ebert roomed together for three years and the friendship lasted until Ebert's death in 1926. While Ebert was president, he wrote many letters to Frick, who had moved to this country in 1899.

And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Get a small bottle to try.

JACK LOCKWELL

By Patten

"What are you going to do?" Jack cried, springing after Willie and grabbing him. "I'm going to tell that snob Hargon what I think of his sly business." Darling answered. "You can't do that," said Jack. "You're now a 'grave and reverend senior,' and you'll keep out of freshman affairs." Later, Lockwell went to the field where the Varsity men were practicing.

Price Hargon was there ahead of Jack. He was taking earnestly to "Larry" Golt, chairman of the school athletic committee, but he saw Lockwell coming toward them.

"Oh, hello, Lockwell!" said Price coolly. "I was just telling Mr. Golt that our class should be stirred up to organize its football team, now you are back."

As he said this, Hargon's smile was affable and friendly. He had lost no time in moving to prevent adverse opinion of his thwarted attempt to organize secretly to control the freshman team. Jack smiled also. "I am ready for anything, Hargon," he said meaningly, looking Price in the eyes. . . . The call for the freshman meeting was posted that night. (To Be Continued)

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER AS A SYMBOL

James Truslow Adams, the historian, who always sees things in a different way writes on the Unknown Soldier in the November number of the Atlantic Monthly. He notes the changing point of view with regard to hero worship. He contrasts the tomb of Napoleon on the banks of the Seine and the grave of the unknown soldier in the Arc de Triomphe as marking a mighty revolution in man's thought. Where two generations and less ago, the place of pilgrimage for the hero worshiper was the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon or the tomb of Napoleon under its majestic dome in Paris, today the distinguished foreigner visiting Washington or Paris lays a wreath on the grave of the unknown soldier.

The common man has come to his own. It is the most marked feature of our democratic age. But Mr. Adams thinks this might be carried too far. He questions very much whether any village Hampdens, whose hands the rods of empire might have swayed, or Cromwells, guilty of their country's blood, are sleeping in Gray's churchyard. He would contend for the rights and the opportunities of the common man, but he is not quite ready yet to set him aloft on a pinnacle. Lincoln, who is so often held up as a symbol of the common man, was after all, a very uncommon man. The common man lacks qualities which the great man possesses, and which the world needs for its progress. He leaves behind him, except for the sorrow of those who were near to him, very little more than the pet dog. Imagination loves to read in between the bare lines on most grave stones which record the date of birth and the date of death a great variety of achievements and heroisms all of which may be purely fictitious.

We suspect there is something to be said for Mr. Adams' point of view. Are we leveling down values to a degree that the great and the worthy of the world who did leave a rich inheritance to mankind and who have stamped their ideals and ideas upon great institutions which have become the glory of mankind, cease to be objects of honor and admiration, while the common man who is simply a symbol connoting nothing in particular is to become our hero and our model? There is something to be said for the men who did things and whose names shine resplendent as the stars. And when their glory is dimmed merely to exalt a fiction, we may be on the down road which will land us ultimately in the drab realm of the commonplace and the futile.

The idea of the common soldier receiving honor is good; but it should never be at the expense of those great spirits and those great heroes who put nerve into the arm of the common man and fire into his heart, and without whom the common man could never have amounted to anything or accomplished anything.

UPHOLDING THE LAW HELPS THE STUDENTS

The question of high school fraternities is again acutely before the school authorities of the state. Principals of a number of high schools, including the principal of the Huntington Beach Union High school, have reported to State Superintendent of Schools Cooper that boys of their high schools, through the mails, have been asked to join a high school fraternity. The invitations have been sent out by the chancellor of the fraternity, he being the national head of the organization. The initiation fee has been reduced from $30 to $15, and that is held out as an inducement in the frat's campaign for memberships.

The crux of the disturbance is that the state law forbids the existence of fraternities in California high schools. If left alone, high school boys would have but few frats. Outsiders, interested in getting new members on a commission basis, keep the fraternities going. Some of the high school authorities, which includes principals and boards of education, have fought the fraternity movement with considerable success; others have taken the easy way, they have let the outlaw organizations thrive. It must be said, of course, that in some instances the frats have thrived on opposition, the students, in some cases aided and abetted by parents, have thought it smart to defeat the school authorities in the enforcement of the law. In those high schools where the authorities have had the nerve to fire frat members out of school activities, including the cherished game of football, little difficulty has been encountered in keeping the light of the fraternities under a hood.

Whatever one may think of the high school frat, whether as an avenue for development of a boy's social nature and therefore good, or as a road for carousing, deceit and snobbishness and therefore bad, the fact remains that the high school fraternity is forbidden by law. The legislators who made the law, advised by able educators, have decreed that there is no place in the high schools for this kind of organization, and it is the good citizen's duty to lend his aid to the enforcement of the law.

The wholesale solicitation for members ought to convince prospective members that, in spite of whatever representations may have been made to them as to the supposed advantages of belonging to a fraternity, the solicitors and organizers are working for memberships at so much a head. It ought also to convince them that belonging to a high school frat is not quite as much of a distinction as they had thought, as, in fact, it is not. Rather, it is the high school boy who is clear-headed and independent enough to scoff at the frat who is entitled to whatever distinction may be involved.

CARRY YOUR MARRIAGE LICENSE

A jury in one of our large cities has awarded three thousand dollars to a man who was arrested by a policeman because he was kissing and hugging his wife in the back of an automobile. The policeman mistook a perfectly legitimate performance for a roadside petting party. The judge thought it was a little too much, and reduced it somewhat, but the verdict stands. A man can kiss his wife on the street if he wants to.

This creates a difficult situation for the police. It may mean that together with auto licenses and drivers' licenses we will all have to carry our marriage licenses with us. Something of the sort will have to be done to protect the policemen; otherwise our roadsides will be lined with parties which can only be dispersed by the presence of "No Parking" signs.

Law's Warning to Wanton Speeders

San Bernardino Sun
Have you a reputation for fast driving? And proud of it?

Then turn back to Sunday's paper and read the story of the sentence of an Upland man to San Quentin for the term prescribed by law.

He had been duly convicted by a jury for manslaughter on testimony that showed he entered an intersection driving at a high rate of speed. Two of the figures in that black face type that symbolizes each fatal automobile accident story in The Sun, belong to this accident. Two people died as the result of the fact that this driver speeded into the intersection. Following the verdict of the jury came the motion for probation.

The probation officer of the county investigated. He found facts that argued for probation. The man before the bar of justice had a reputation as an industrious and sober citizen. But he had a reputation for speeding. The duty of the court, as painful in execution as it must have been, is obvious. The law must take its course.

We do not mean to imply, by the opening words of this editorial, that this unfortunate defendant was proud of his reputation for speeding. There is no testimony on that point.

But there are many hundreds—all of us meet them almost every day—who are proud of their reputation for speeding. They violate the law, take chances that endanger the lives of others, and do not give the seriousness of it a thought. Rather, they glory in it.

And it is this spirit of recklessness that is responsible for many of the 51 lives which have been claimed in automobile accidents in San Bernardino county during 1927.

A man is to go to prison. There are domestic reasons concerning himself and his family that make his imprisonment a tragedy. His imprisonment cannot bring back the two lives the accident took. It cannot restore a loving husband and a father to the survivors who so badly need care and protection.

Therefore this man goes to prison as a warning to others. The people of the county then owe it to the cause of justice to heed the punishment thus meted out. It is a warning to them.

And the pitiful part of it is that scores of such drivers must go to prison before those who so wantonly risk the lives of others, not only in San Bernardino county but in every county, can be brought to their senses and the realization of what they do when they burn up the highways in defiance of law and the rights of others.

Public sentiment everywhere is demanding of the courts that they do their part in the suppression of the violation of the traffic laws. The tide has turned definitely toward punishment, rather than leniency, as the only step that can be taken.

Raising Teachers' Level

Good News to the Nation
San Francisco Chronicle

Good news comes from Cleveland, Ohio, in a bulletin presenting statistics on public school expenditures throughout the nation. It is stated that the pay of public school superintendents and teachers has increased from $91,836,454 in 1926 to $1,005,623,596 in 1927. The purpose of the bulletin is to attack this expenditure, but the effect on thinking people is quite the reverse.

Teachers' salaries were notoriously and disgracefully low. People who are out for themselves for all the traffic will bear, think teachers ought to work for nothing. The figures in the bulletin go to show that the school system has developed and increased, that prices of everything have risen since 1926 and that the teachers' position is better off relatively than it was in the dark ages. For which we are duly thankful.

The Last Laugh

Oakland Tribune

Potatoes, it is said, are grown in each of the forty-eight states of the Union. Some eastern critics may arise with the ironic question, "Now what will California say to that?"

California says nothing! California magnanimously concedes the fact that, given earth and water and air and sunshine, no matter how lacking in rich beams the latter be, vegetation of some sort is possible in other portions of the globe.

California, as usual laughs last!

And will continue to raise potatoes de luxe.

PERSPIRATION OFTEN DUE TO PHYSICAL CONDITION

Some people perspire easily and some all over the body; others perspire occasionally and with great difficulty; still others perspire on only small portions of the body at any single time.

Japanese investigators in the physiological laboratory of the Manchurian Medical College in Mukden made a special study of various persons with a view to classifying different types of perspiration.

People were placed in a room in which the temperature was raised rapidly and then the amount of perspiration in various areas of the skin was measured. Profused sweating all over the body, it was found, could be checked not only by the sudden lowering of the temperature, but also by the application of an ice bag to any part of the skin.

Nervous Control

In the same way, the heating of any portion of the body may provoke sweating all over the body. This is an indication of the fact that the perspiration control is not directly in response to heat applied at any given point, but also by a general nervous mechanism.

The physical condition of the individual at various times may influence the manner of perspiration. It was found that during the summer weather, on the day after a heavy drinking bout, or when the patient was in a weakened condition after an illness, he was likely to sweat at a lower temperature than in winter or under other conditions.

When the ability to perspire easily is high, a very slight stimulus will provoke perspiration, whereas, if the person does not perspire easily, a strong stimulus is required, sometimes the most intense emotion.

Three Types

The Japanese investigator listed three types of people in relation to perspiration: those who have little ability to perspire so that they barely sweat with a very high temperature; those who sweat very easily and far beyond any necessary amount, and finally normal people who sweat just enough to keep their temperatures regulated normally.

People of the first type should not live in tropical countries, since heat accumulates in their bodies and they are likely to have heat strokes.

SUBMISSIVE
Although I may think that such things shouldn't be
I have to like skirts that are cut to the knee.

It's not mine to say what a woman should wear,
I have to like girls who have barbered their hair.

It may be all wrong that they powder and paint,
But my women refuse to be frumpy and quaint.

When it comes to controlling the fads as they are
I long ago learned I don't get very far.

I might preach against fashion the rest of my life
But I'd never change either my daughter or wife.

So whatever they wear, to submit is my lot,
For they'll follow the style, let me like it or not.

How We Do Progress

The world, thanks be to Science and Education, is now getting along nicely. It is a long time, of course, since flyers began crossing the ocean in land planes (weeks and weeks), but we've progressed far since then. Every day the news gives us some little item that shows how civilization's inexorable onward march proceeds.

A district school board in Michigan has ruled that all teachers, of the more deadly species, shall wear smocks that cover them from Adam's apples to ankles. That much for the majestic and orderly headway of law against crime.

A doctor in Chicago proceeds to the rostrum of public information with the startling disclosure that 60 per cent of babies born to cigarette-smoking mothers die before they are two years of age. There will be those who will laugh at this. But never mind! There were those who smirked at Robert Fulton, too.

A husband and wife were arrested for spooning in an automobile in Cleveland. They were so inconvenienced, humiliated and so forth by their trip to the station that they sued the city. The woman was awarded $3675 damages, which she will now try to collect from the aforesaid city. So much for the uplift of our family relations.

A young man in Paris suddenly discovered the other day that he could fly with no mechanical aid whatever, relying simply on psychic powers. He has bruises to show for bad landings, collisions with furniture, benches and other obstructions. This solves the threatened gasoline shortage we've been wondering about. We can just flap out of bed at 7:30 of a winter morning and soar to work, arriving at 7:45 after a pleasant journey over the trolley wires, etc.

Ghosts do not need the shade of night to cloak their movements, some Galileo of psychic research has just whispered to a waiting world. Ghosts have changed their habits lately, becoming much bolder, operating now in broad daylight, chains and all. Their thumbprints can be taken by mediums, properly trained mediums to be sure. This will prove valuable addenda for the police files.

An English astronomer steps into the scientific laboratory for a few minutes and comes out with the news that the earth is to come to a dead stop. It will be a few million years, of course, but we're all very much interested. Friction of the tides is going to bring the quaint novelty about. Wagers now can be laid as to what half of the world will be in darkness when the tides, put on the brakes. This will cause a brisk betting flurry in Wall Street, no doubt.

Onward we march, the torches of civilization and science held on high. Is it any wonder all those gentlemen are declining to run for president?

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

LLOYD George is doing politics, of course, but there is also real seriousness in his warning of the danger of another general war. It would be madness, to be sure; but so was it before. There is no money to fight it with; but neither was there before. Europe did it then, and may again.

OR, RATHER, it probably will not. But it will not precisely because the warning of Lloyd George and other European-minded liberals will be heeded. If the present nationalistic course were followed, the event would only too well justify the warnings.

EUROPE can prevent war. It has the machinery to do so. But the present policy of the Conservative British government is to weaken that machinery. France would like to straighten it, but the Poincareists would do so only on a basis that would ultimately compel war. Mussolini would never have gone into the League of Nations if he had not found himself already there, and his whole policy is disloyal to its spirit. The nationalistic reaction in Europe would disrupt the whole machinery of peace if it took its course. The safety is in the fact that there is also a liberal movement in all of these countries, and that the logic of events is so strongly with it that it is certain to win in time.

But don't dismiss the warnings of Lloyd George as mere alarmism.

PARKER Gilbert reparations agents, has warned the Germans against increasing their budget by raising government salaries, to the jeopardy of the Dawes plan payments. Naturally the Germans resent this "foreign interference"—though it is exactly what they agreed to, to their intense relief, in the Dawes plan—and threaten to make the increases anyway.

Of COURSE there is no way to make "Germany" pay, because there is no such thing as "Germany." There are only Germans, and they can pay only by working harder and living poorer than they would have to do, if it were not for the payments, or than the people of their creditor nations have to do. So long as the German government, plus outside pressure, can bring the German people to do this, the payments will continue. Whenever they cease to do it, the possibility of payment ceases also.

THIS writer, for thirty years, has been proving the Democratic party dead, but somehow, though the logic was conclusive, the demise failed to follow. Now a lot of others are arguing the same thing, and in their numbers is perhaps more significance than in their reasons. The reasons, indeed, had always been good, if reasons were enough. "We doubt if the Democrats will ever be a real party again," says the New Republic, which will not be accused of Republican leanings, and several magazines print symposia on the probable early dissolution of the party. Those who argue for its survival present no better considerations than the force of tradition and the convenience, for nomination purposes, of a two-party mechanism. Of meaning and vitality, no one finds any symptoms. And this at the very time when the party is about to nominate as its candidate one of the most vital and interesting men in America.

IT IS not merely that the Democratic party has no principles on which its members are agreed. Neither has the Republican party. We have passed that stage of party purposes—if, indeed, it ever existed, which some political historians dispute. Neither party now corresponds, and perhaps never did correspond, to Edmund Burke's definition of a party as a political group organized to promote certain

The Doves in the Park

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

ISAT in the park watching the people and the doves. A young man came shambling up the walk, dissipated, shifty looking. "What a shame," I thought, "You're just naturally weak and the police type walk for trouble." He walked slowly into the midst of the feeding doves, leaned carelessly against a tree, took a bag of nuts from his pocket and waited. Cautiously the doves came to him. They fed from his hand, perched on his shoulder and worn cap. They took nuts from his lips! After a half hour I went away thinking, "Surely no one is ALL bad who takes pains to win the friendship of the doves!"

YOU lovely white doves
With your tails spread like fans,
You gray ones with necks of green-blue,
Do your feathery coats
Keep you warm in the cold,
Or would you like overshoes, too?

Your friends have all gone
From their bench in the park,
The birds have flown south long ago;
The brown trees are
Nakedly braving the wind,
And the fountains are covered with snow.

YOU scratch in the snow
With your dainty gray feet,
A-hunting for food till it's dark;
Are you wishing that Springtime
Would hurry along,
And bring back your friends to the park?

In summer their pockets
Are bulging with food—
Fat peanuts, and popcorn and crumbs;
But soon as the wintry sharp
Winds start to blow
There's scarcely a visitor comes.

YOU lovely white doves,
With your tails spread like fans;
You gray ones with necks of green-blue,
Are you looking at me
With your beady black eyes
Sort o' wishing you had mittens, too?
